RELIANCE WINS RACE

HOW THE BIG RACE WAS WON.

Reliance An Easy Winner Over the Shamrock.

Bulletins of the Contest Tell the Story of the Struggle.

NEW YORK, August 22.—On the fifty-second anniversary of the winning of what was then the Queen's cup by the America, the Shamrock III, Sir Thomas Lipton's third candidate for the international trophy, now known as the America's cup, was defeated by the Reliance, time allowance excluded, from the reckoning; by 7 minutes and 59 second. With the time allowance, the Reliance won by 7 minutes and 2 seconds. The official times were:

Start—Shamrock, 11:45:17; Reliance, 11:45:21.

Finish—Reliance, 3:17:45; Shamrock 3:26:40.

The time allowance will be computed after the Shamrock's remeasurement on Monday.

THE START.

NEW YORK, August 22.—(By Marcon wireless from yacht Cheolah, off lightship):

10:35 a. m.—The wind is blowing ten knots.

Heavy sea running.

10:43 a. m.—The start has been temporarily postponed as the committee has decided to shift the line.

The yachts are sailing about lightship, awaiting course signals and preparatory gun.

10:55 a. m.—The committee boat and the course boat have come to anchor at a point eastward of the lightship, about five miles directly off Long Beach, L. I., which they intend to make the starting point.

NEW YORK, August 22, 11:20 a. m.—Committee has signalled course fifteen miles to windward and run home. Wind southwest.

NEW YORK, August 22.—The warning gun was fired at 11:40 a. m.

NEW YORK, August 22, 11:42 a. m.—The right position is hot and interesting every move of Captain Barr is following.

11:46 a. m.—The committee boat and the course boat have come to anchor at a point eastward of the lightship, about five miles directly off Long Beach, L. I., which they intend to make the starting point.

THEY ARE OFF.

NEW YORK, August 22.—They are off.

Starting time, as observed from shore:

Shamrock ..... 11:45:20

Reliance ..... 11:46:10

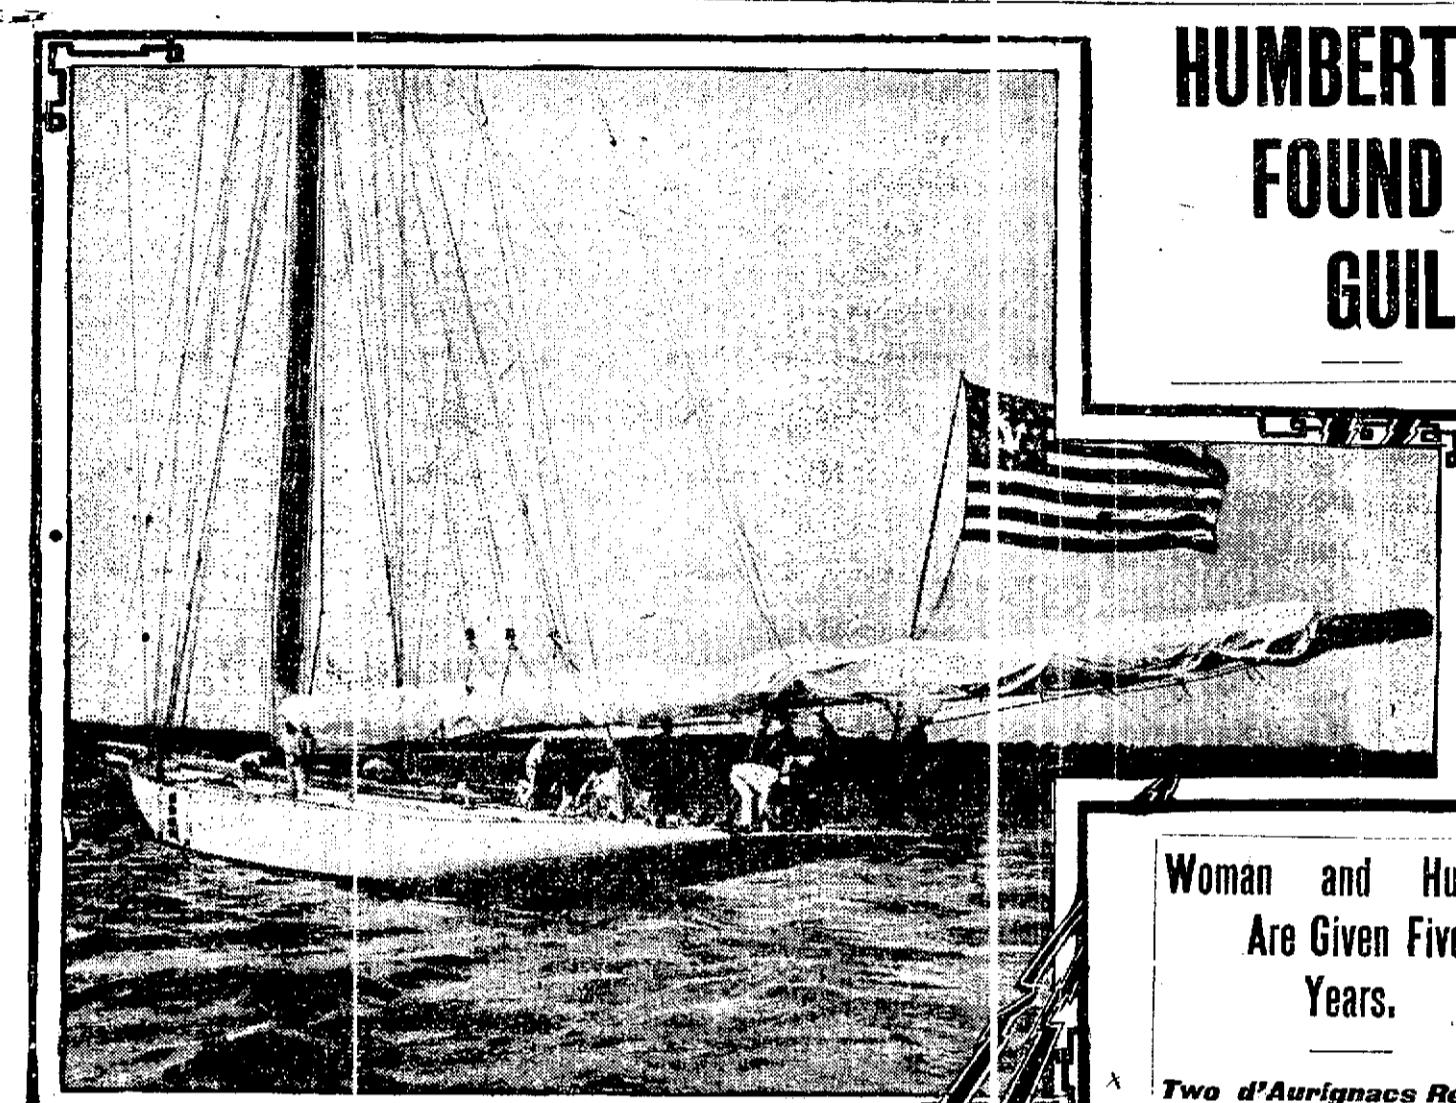

NEW YORK, August 22, 12:02 p. m.—Reliance seems to be slowly but surely drawing up on Shamrock.

CLOSE START.

NEW YORK, August 22, 12:05 p. m.—The race at this time is a very close one, both boats holding still to the southward on the starboard tack. They have sailed two miles of the course and Shamrock still appears to be leading, although Reliance is close behind.

NEW YORK, August 22.—The boats are on even terms, though Shamrock is leading. Reliance is in better position to windward.

NEW YORK, August 22, 12:30 p. m.

RELIANCE, WINNER OF FIRST RACE.

Shamrock is in windward position and marking mark.

SHAMROCK TACKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—12:44 p. m.—Shamrock has just tacked to starboard, right underneath Reliance's port bow and the race between the boats is still very close.

The Reliance had tacked to starboard a short time previously.

12:46 p. m.—Reliance is gradually pulling up to the windward of Shamrock and cutting off the latter's wind.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—12:50 p. m.—The marking tug placed the turning mark, three miles due east off shore of West Long Branch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Official time of start:

Shamrock, ..... 11:45:17

Reliance, ..... 11:46:21

RELIANCE AHEAD.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—1:10 p. m.—Reliance overhauled and passed Shamrock and is in windward position.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—1:15 p. m.—It looks from Highlands as if Reliance leads Shamrock three-eighths of a mile.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—1:20 p. m.—Reliance is leading by nearly a quarter of a mile. She is one-eighth of a mile to windward.

It looks as if the boats would make the mark on this tack.

RELIANCE WELL AHEAD.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—1:25 p. m.—During the last ten minutes, Reliance's gains have been continuous and it looks as if she was more than half a mile ahead.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—1:40 p. m.—Shamrock has gone about on the starboard tack.

Reliance went on starboard tack at 1:39, but again tacked to port at 1:43.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—1:46 p. m.—Both yachts are heading on port tack in shore, one and one-half miles from outer mark.

Reliance half mile in lead.

RELATION TURNS.

1:53 p. m.—Reliance is within half a mile of outer mark, leading by about Villages Have Been Burning for the Past Three Days. Shamrock Led At the Start But Was Soon Overtaken.

Macedonia Trouble Seems How the Challenger and Defender Went Over the Course.

SOFIA, August 22.—Unconfirmed, but persistent rumors are circulating of alarming massacres at Monastir.

MILLIONS OF CARTRIDGES.

HIRTENBERG, Hungary, August 22.—Bulgaria has ordered five million cartridges from a factory here.

VILLAGES BURNING.

SOFIA, August 22.—Officers of a Russian warship, who called at Burgas, Bulgaria, north of Monastir, for provisions, have reported that all villages along the coast of Adrianople, from the Bulgarian frontier to Monastir, have been burning for the last three days. Monastir is deserted.

A Russian warship which passed Kurt Bruun, a short distance north of Monastir, was saluted by the insurgents.

A strong force of Turkish troops has been despatched from Adrianople to the coast districts.

The latest reports from Monastir indicate that the situation there is unchanged.

HE WAS MURDERED.

BUCHAREST, Romania, August 22.—An Armenian named Garabet Mardrosian has been murdered at Kalafat, acting as agent of the committee in facilitating the passage of men into Bulgaria. The Roumanian authorities discovered documentary proof of his relations with the committee. It is reported that he was assassinated because of his failure to comply with some of the recent orders of the committee, and that the latter selected a relative of Mardrosian to punish his offense with death.

INSURRECTION SPREADS.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Friday, August 22.—The insurrection in the vicinity of Adrianople, which started in the subdivision of Kavala, Russia, thirty-two miles from Adrianople, is spreading eastward. Several villages have been burned by insurgents in the neighborhood of Monastir, where the Russian squadron is anchored, and urgent demands have been sent to Adrianople for reinforcements.

The proposal to send the Austrian and Russian military attaches to Monastir to gather facts about the insurrection, has been dropped for the present, as the proposed visit is not considered opportune.

Amelia Bingham and Her Social Affairs—Political Gossip.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 22.—Washington from the War Department was execrable. Because of a difference of political opinion Miles was subjected to the limit of public humiliation. In few, if any, heartaches as a result of the big gathering, I don't know of any other affair built along the lines of this monster assembly in California that did not leave a flood of tears in its wake.

Take the coming of the late lamented McKinley, for instance. There were nothing but fights from one end of the State to the other, as a result of the coming of the late executive. Major-General Otis and ex-Governor Henry T. Gage went at it hammer and tongs as soon as McKinley reached Los Angeles. Then Mrs. Otis and all the Los Angeles society women indulged in a merry scrap, and during the excitement Mrs. Otis received Mrs. McKinley with her hair all done up in a bun.

Of course, the other Los Angeles women didn't tell anybody about the metallic head dress of the wife of the second General to cross the Rubicon.

Then at San Jose the Mayor and his wife and the social set of the Garden City fought like cats and dogs. At Burlingame Henry T. Scott got into a fight with the newspaper men and was roasted from one end of America to the other. Everybody knows the scrap that spread all over San Francisco, beginning with Mrs. McKinley Morse and ending with the Merchants' Association criticism of the Scott's bill for the entertainment of the nation's head.

The coming of Roosevelt afforded a chance for more fights. His battle with the Yosemite Commissioners has now become a part of the nation's history. The Mystic Shriners' gathering furnished an excuse for a bunch of fraternal spats. But the Grand Army has come and gone without leaving a social unpleasantness. Really we are getting on.

Of course the central figure of the big gathering was Lieutenant-General Nelson A. Miles, retired. Miles came out here in quest of a little sympathy from the old soldiers, and he got it. The treatment he received at Washington from the War Department was execrable. Because of a difference of political opinion Miles was subjected to the limit of public humiliation. In a few hours he found himself transformed from the head of the army of the United States to a mere private citizen, against whom the machinery of the national administration was working night and day.

The army clique in Washington for the last five years has never lost an opportunity to blacken Miles in the eyes of the public. So, after his retirement, the hero of the Indian wars set out for San Francisco to meet the men who saved the union with a heavy heart.

He wasn't quite certain how he would be treated by the newspapers or the people.

The Examiner alone treated General Miles with the courtesy and consideration due a man who has done so much for his country. The other papers, because of politics practically slighted the great soldier, and Miles was more than unhappy over the Examiner's attitude.

The General was not a bit backward when talking with his personal friends of his liking for the applause of his fellow men and when he received the cheers of the veterans whom he addressed, he was proud and joyful as a child with a new toy.

During his stay in San Francisco General Miles was looked out for by Major Rathbone. He accepted only one formal dinner. That was given by Mrs. Eleanor Martin. Generals Shafter and MacArthur, Major Rathbone and a few others were present. Since meeting Lieutenant-General Young, old lady Martin has developed a mania for wiping and dining stripes, brass buttons and shoulder straps. Miles left here with a feeling that the future is not as dark as the Washington clique would like to paint it.

* * *

The enterprise of "THE TRIBUNE" in getting out extras the night of the big prize fight created a good deal of favorable opinion on this side of the bay. "The Examiner" achieved one of its great triumphs in its manner of handling the contest. For the first time in the history of prize fighting flashlight photographs were secured for a newspaper of the finish of a championship fight. "The Examiner" got the pictures. "The Chronicle" had a corps of photographers and made a desperate effort to snap-shot the finish, but the pictures failed.

On Saturday morning "The Examiner" sold 30,000 extra copies, as a result of its handling the battle. "The Chicago American" sold over 10,000 fight extras before one o'clock in the morning Chicago time.

I really had to laugh the other night when I heard a man at the Bohemian Club recounting the social conquests of Amelia Bingham, the actorina. He spoke of the various dinners given her in her honor by the smart set and recounted the brilliancy of her conversation and the perfection of her manners.

Now far be it from me to hold a woman up to ridicule, but really the fair Amelia is one of the standing joshes of the actor world. There was a great deal of questioning here as to why she took her husband's name for professional purposes, but no one could give an adequate answer. Now I am going to let you into the secret. Before Amelia had the matrimonial hoop of gold placed on her finger, her name was Swilley, just plain Amelia Swilley. Now how do you think "Miss Amelia Swilley will appear tonight, etc., etc." would read on a playbill.

And Mr. Lynch will see to it that Mayor Schmitz is not renominated. He will also see that Mr. Abraham Ruef is not the head and front of the Republican convention. If things go as at present, out of City and County Treasurer McDougall will be John Lynch's choice for Mayor. Thus Mr. McDougall has proved himself an efficient and popular Treasurer. He stands very strong with the labor people and has other affiliations that have a tendency to make him a successful candidate for the office.

The "Devil's Disciple," in which Henry Miller and Margaret Anglin are appearing at the Columbia Theater, has arrived all sorts of curiosity here as to the personality of George Bernard Shaw, the author of the play. The beautiful ignorance of the San Francisco public when it comes to knowing who's who in the really brilliant set on the other side of the pond is pathetic.

There is no kick against Schmitz personally by the chief pillar of the Republican party machinery, but the stain and dyed in the wool members of the party will not countenance his going on the ticket, because of his affiliation with the labor unionists in the party.

The fact that Ruef was openly working toward the nomination of Schmitz led many to believe that the Mayor would go before the people as a candidate to succeed himself backed by the Republican party machine. This impression got abroad because of the democratic habits of Ruef in his management of political campaigns. The great drag he has had with the present administration has in the average person on the fringe of politics to thoroughly believe that Ruef is IT. But he isn't IT.

The man who will dictate the Republican municipal ticket is Collector of Internal Revenue, John C. Lynch. Mr. Lynch's name is most decorous every check paid out to cover the expenses of the Alliance. Therefore, he is called "O. K." Lynch. Incidentally Mr. Lynch is the authorized political agent of Mr. W. F. Harris, who just now dominates the Republican machine.

LAST DAY OF G. A. R. SESSION.

ROUGH HOUSE AT THE BERKELEY COLLEGE.

HARMON GYMNASIUM A WRECK—
SOMEBODY WILL BE EX-PELLED.

BERKELEY, August 21.—A battle with fire hoses turned on at full force marked the organization of the Freshman Club in Harmon Gymnasium this morning. The battle which will probably result in dismissal of several students from the University was participated in by the sophomores and the first-year men assisted by the Juniors who broke into the building where the freshmen were holding their meeting for the purpose of organizing. The "sophos" turned the hose on their rivals who retaliated by striking the invading forces with hoses in the interior of the building. Both sides were drenched and after the onslaught the floor of the gymnasium looked like a great pool.

The trouble began when the sophomores piled in the front door with the avowed purpose of breaking up the meeting, but the Juniors' traditional protectors of the "baby" class soon put them out. Nothing daunted, the sophos went to the rear of the building, broke down the door and then with fire hoses turned on from the roof advanced to the entrance on the front. The Juniors made a rush for the other side of the gymnasium and tearing the fire hose from the reel advanced on the enemy. Some of the collegians on the opposing side were caught and nearly drowned. In a few moments there was hardly a dry student in the room. Chairs were overturned and the water began to rise on the floor like a freshet. There was not a faculty member in sight and the fun continued for several minutes.

Those who are closest to the student force declare that the incident is not closed by any means and that the offending sophos will be subjected to a searching investigation. It is believed that the affair if the faculty holds to its anti-rushing rules, cannot but help resulting in dismissal of some of the students.

What made the drenching of the interior of the gymnasium worse than anything else in the eyes of the University authorities is the fact that it was to have been the place for the large large mass meeting held in honor of the G. A. R.

The reports of the various retiring officers were adopted, and a vote of thanks given each for their efficient services. It was resolved to telegraph President Roosevelt the resolution favoring the pensioning veterans over 62 years of age which was adopted yesterday.

The committee on resolutions presented a number of resolutions on which action was taken. The resolution to make all past adjutant generals members of the encampment was defeated.

A resolution favoring legislation to prevent by education and in other ways, the desecration of the flag, was adopted.

The endorsement by the committee of the service pension law was approved.

The proposed establishment of national soldiers' homes in Idaho, Florida and Oklahoma was endorsed.

It was resolved to appoint a committee of five to investigate cases of discrimination against veterans in the civil service.

The encampment unanimously adopted a resolution introduced by Captain P. H. Coey of Topeka, Kas., eulogizing General Nelson A. Miles for his eminent services to the country.

A committee of five was appointed to provide for the perpetuation of Memorial Day in the South and a committee of three will revise the blue book.

James Coey was restored to the honor of past department commander of California.

The Committee on Resolutions stated that it was deemed unwise to offer several resolutions which had been presented to it, as their discussion might provoke extended controversy.

It was resolved to ask Congress to erect a statue to the memory of General M. A. MacArthur.

Major-General MacArthur was introduced and delivered a brief address, which was warmly received.

A delegation from the Sons of Veterans, which order the encampment denied the privilege of participating in the meetings of the G. A. R., was presented. A motion to consider the previous action of the encampment was laid on the table.

The George W. Cook Drum Corps and Band from Denver, seventy-five strong, arrived, and for a short time furnished music, which the business character of the proceedings.

The formal installation of officers then followed, the installing officer being Senior Past President Louis Wagner of Pennsylvania.

Commander-in-Chief Black was given authority to install junior commanders, Capt. K. Keeler, and also the newly appointed judge advocate-general, James Tanner, who also was absent.

A resolution thanking the people and press who contributed to the success of the gathering was adopted with cheers.

The encampment then adjourned to meet in Boston next year.

OAKLAND MAN IS DROWNED.

GEORGE W. REEDER LOST HIS LIFE IN RUSSIAN RIVER.

SANTA ROSA, Cal., Aug. 21.—Geo. W. Reeder of Oakland, was accidentally drowned in the Russian River yesterday. The body was recovered and sent to his home today. Deceased was a tobacconist, aged forty years.

AGED COUNTERFEITER PLEADS GUILTY.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 21.—George W. Brown, aged 70 years, noted counterfeiter, today pleaded guilty to charges of making false money and will be sentenced to prison. He has been in the department of justice ever since he had no end of trouble over Brown's crimes in the past and he has spent four terms in the penitentiary for counterfeiting.

FOUND DEAD IN HER BED.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 21.—Mrs. D. Francollo, a niece of the late General Vallejo, who for years has been engaged in a legal fight for the recovery of the family lands, was found dead in her bed today. It is believed that heart disease, from which she has been a sufferer, carried her off. Deceased was 55 years of age.

KIDNAPER SENTENCED

CHICAGO, August 21.—Hazel Avery, self-confessed kidnaper of two-year-old Olive Furlong, was today sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. The baby was stolen June 23 and was not recovered until June 30. Miss Avery said she took the child through compassion for it, because of its unkempt and dirty appearance. In sentencing Miss Avery, Judge McEwen declared that he did not believe the woman mentally responsible, but considered it necessary to make an example of her.

KILLED BY TRAMP.

WICHITA, Kas., August 21.—An unknown young man from Indiana was shot and killed by one of four tramps early this morning at Augusta, 20 miles east of Wichita. He and two companions lay down to sleep with tramps last night one mile east of Augusta. The tramps robbed them of watches and money while asleep. On awakening they showed fight and one was shot. The tramps fled.

THREE MEN DEAD.

CHEHALIS, Washington, Aug. 21.—Three men are dead as the result of an accident on a logging railroad at Peet. The logging engine was backing down a grade pulling two cars loaded with logs when the engine jumped the track. Five men were on the engine when it turned over. Engineer Hendrick was instantly killed and John Hammaker and a man named Koburg were so badly scalded that they died.

NO ANSWER FROM YANCER

CHANCES FOR HIS MEETING WITH HANLON ARE VERY SLIM.

Manager John Hertz has as yet received no answer to his numerous telegrams to Chicago inquiring about Benny Yancer's condition and the chances of his being able to fight Hanlon next month. Yesterday he even wired his brother in the Windy City, expecting, of course, to get an immediate reply, but thus far there has been "nothing doing." Mike Short, Eddie Hanlon's manager, says he will take Hertz' forfeit money if Yancer fails to appear in San Francisco next month to fight. Such a proceeding will be prevented, however, if possible. Yancer's friends in California believe that sickness would be the only thing that would keep the little fighter from the ring. In September, and say it would be unfair to take the forfeit money in such an event. Hanlon's manager, Short, would not be injured by Yancer's failure to fight, hence the latter's supporters say his money ought not to be forfeited. Manager Morris Levy of the Hayes Valley Athletic Club, under whose auspices the men are scheduled to fight, may call the affair off, and then Mike Short would have no opportunity to take half of the $600 forfeit.

At a meeting of the Pacific Inter Club Yacht Association held last evening arrangements were made for the eighth annual regatta to be held on Admission Day, September 5th, which this year falls on Wednesday. The delegates from the various yacht clubs in the association were present and appointed the officials for the day's sports. Louis Sonnik of the South Bay Yacht Club and George E. Smith of the San Francisco Yacht Club will act as judges. The referee will be C. J. Lancaster, an old member of the California Yacht Club, and F. J. Weinger of the Vallejo Club, and R. R. Thommeieu of the California Club will be timekeepers.

The Regatta Committee will be composed of George E. Smith of the San Francisco Yacht Club, S. Middlemas of the Corinthian Yacht Club, R. R. L'Hommedieu of the California Yacht Club, Louis Sonniks of the South Bay Yacht Club, and P. J. Weinger of the Vallejo Yacht and Boating Club.

The first circular containing the rules governing the race reads as follows:

Entries will close on Friday, September 4th, at 6 p.m. All entries must be countersigned by the measurer of the boat which the yacht belongs. All yachts must be measured under the association's rules. Time will be allowed for difference in measurements of yachts according to these rules. The start will be what is known as a one-gun start, time being taken from the starting signal. The starting time of each class will be stated in the final circular.

Certificates of merit and prize ponants will be given to boats getting first and second places in their respective classes. There is to be a special race for all yachts of 10 feet and under racing length, no allowance to be made for rigging.

The third series of silver trophies offered by Joseph M. Macdonough can be secured by the team which wins the 20-foot special class, and will become the property of the yacht owners in the various classes making the best corrected time over the ten and fourteen mile courses. The boats in the special 20-foot class can compete for the third of the series of five cups offered by Herbert E. Law. The trophy will become the property of the owners of the yachts making the fastest corrected time over the special five-mile course.

The opposition league was managed and backed by Harry J. Hart, who was the principal owner of the San Francisco and Los Angeles teams, and on him falls the lion's share of the financial losses. The total amount of the losses is $50,000. Hart is a good loss, however, and is not grumbling. He stated that it was his money and that the incident is closed. His two teams started a week's series in Los Angeles on Tuesday and yesterday he wired the San Francisco team to return and disband. He told the instructions to Royce, the head of the Los Angeles team, were to disband at once. Consequently no game was played in the southern city yesterday afternoon and the San Francisco team arrived across the bay this morning.

With that order the baseball war which had been wages for the past few months is at an end and the older organization is victorious. The battle started with the advent of the Coast League in Portland and Seattle. The Pacific National League decided to fight to the bitter end in order to carry the war into the other jewel's territory, but the San Francisco and Los Angeles teams, making up a club league.

The orders were to spare no expense in getting the best players and the result was that pitchers drew $400 and $500 a month and fielders got $250 and $300 a month for their services. This, with the means of traveling the great distances necessary to make the circuit, was the undoing of the opposition.

Portland was the first team to give up the struggle and the team was transferred to Salt Lake. Last week the Helena team disbanded after four games without losing, filling the vacancy without success. The Helena team was followed by Tacoma and now comes San Francisco and Los Angeles. The only teams remaining in the league are Seattle, Salt Lake, Spokane and Butte, and it is doubtful if they will keep together much longer.

Players Morley and Harris of the Los Angeles and San Francisco Coast League teams have made arrangements to pick up a few of the best players in the disbanded teams to strengthen their organizations. The changes are that Marshall will take Lynch's place in the Los Angeles team and San Francisco and Los Angeles, making up a club league.

SHE MARRIED AN ACTOR.

(Photo Shaw & Shaw.)

Miss Emma Lucas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Lucas of 1617 Curtis street, this city, announces her marriage in Salt Lake City on August 19, to Jack Terriss, the leading man in "The New Minister." The couple have gone to Yellowstone Park on their honeymoon. They will make their home in the East. Mrs. Terriss is well known in Oakland.

HAULS MATERIAL DAIRY STOCK IS AWAY.

ALAMEDA SPECULATING ON POSSIBLE SOUTHERN PACIFIC ACTION.

ALAMEDA, August 22.—Is it a bluff, a real stoppage of work, or only a temporary suspension, are the conundrums the Alamedan is propounding to himself because there is no work being done down at the narrow gauge model, and he is unable to give himself a satisfactory answer to any of them? Material, too, is being hauled away by train carloads, but those who appear to be hauling it say it is being hauled to Santa Cruz, where there is more urgent need for it than at the mole—all of which is cause for a prevailing spirit of unrest, and may call for additional mass meetings. Meantime company officials are pursuing the even tenor of their way, without a ripple appearing to indicate that there is anything doing out of the ordinary.

NEW STYLE AUTOMOBILE.

ALAMEDA, August 22.—The family of Judge Cone has become owners of a new style of automobile, a three-wheeled affair operated by a motor of the type used on bicycles and now he judges goes sailing along the streets as comfortably as a capitalist. The machine is limited in speed to twelve miles an hour, but he says that is as fast as anybody ought to ride, and that he expects his wife will be chauffeur most of the time any day.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' SERVICE.

ALAMEDA, August 22.—Patriotic services for boys and girls will be held at the tent at the corner of Oak street and Central avenue tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The topic of address by Rev. Durst will be "Our Country." Music will be furnished by a "boys' and girls' choir."

MUST KEEP OFF SIDEWALKS.

ALAMEDA, August 22.—Bicycle riders, old and young might as well make up their minds first as last that they are not going to be permitted to make cycle paths of the sidewalks and that if they attempt it they will be haled into court as fast as they are caught, regardless of sex or condition. Roy S. Woodbridge this morning thought it was where he could get smoothest roads on the sidewalks, so Detective Brown soon showed him that he had taken the road that led him direct to police headquarters, and the knowledge cost him the regular fine of $3.

ARRESTED FOR DRUNKENNESS.

ALAMEDA, August 22.—Michael Gellar, known as "Huckleberry Mike," occupies an apartment in the city jail this morning for coming into town from his country abode and imbibing to plentification of the particular "poison" that makes a crazy drunk. He was picked up by Officer Morris when he got too "obstreperous" and conducted to the lockup. He will probably have an opportunity this afternoon to pay for his fun when Judge Tappan gets hold of him.

FAREWELL SERVICES.

ALAMEDA, August 22.—Tomorrow farewell services will be held in the First Presbyterian Church, at the corner of Versailles and Santa Clara avenues, and the occasion is to be made a memorable one to the communicants of that body. Charles St. John of San Francisco, an artist working in the studio of J. L. Fisher of Alameda, will narrate interesting reminiscences of the early struggles of the membership, and in the evening Judge Ellsworth and Phineas Barton will deliver addresses appropriate to the occasion. A special musical program has been arranged for both morning and evening services. This church was dedicated nearly thirty-six years ago, the exact date being March 8, 1868.

In accordance with action of a meeting of the trustees and congregation held on the 19th inst., the trustees will immediately begin to take down the old structure, the material to be used as far as possible in the new one to be erected. Services attendant upon the removal of the old building will be held Saturday, September 4th, at 4 p. m. at Santa Clara avenue and Chestnut street. While the new church is building, devotional services will be held in the Sunday School building.

Let us show you this piano that will prove satisfactory in every particular, one that is artistic in exterior finish and one that will, during your life time, retain the sweet, pure tone that has when heard in the salesroom.

OFFICIAL VETERINARY IS AT WORK ON ANNUAL INSPECTION.

ALAMEDA, August 22.—Dr. T. Carpenter, official veterinarian for the city is at work making the annual physical examination of dairy stock required by ordinance. He reports that at this date the cows in ten of the dairies that supply milk to Alamedans have been passed over and that less than four percent of the milk given have been condemned.

These animals are examined as to temperature, lung conditions, for mouth, tongue and throat trouble and careful inspection made as to healthy condition of the milk glands. All animals condemned are immediately photographed by Dr. Carpenter himself and their detailed description and condition noted after which they are segregated from the remainder of the herd and kept by themselves until they are either cured or disposed of by their owners, who are allowed a reasonable time only to do one or the other of the things mentioned. If they do not do it officially see that the condemned animals are put where damage will not accrue to well stock.

The remainder of the month will be required to complete the inspection.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' SERVICE.

ALAMEDA, August 22.—Patriotic services for boys and girls will be held at the tent at the corner of Oak street and Central avenue tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The topic of address by Rev. Durst will be "Our Country." Music will be furnished by a "boys' and girls' choir."

MUST KEEP OFF SIDEWALKS.

ALAMEDA, August 22.—Bicycle riders, old and young might as well make up their minds first as last that they are not going to be permitted to make cycle paths of the sidewalks and that if they attempt it they will be haled into court as fast as they are caught, regardless of sex or condition. Roy S. Woodbridge this morning thought it was where he could get smoothest roads on the sidewalks, so Detective Brown soon showed him that he had taken the road that led him direct to police headquarters, and the knowledge cost him the regular fine of $3.

ARRESTED FOR DRUNKENNESS.

ALAMEDA, August 22.—Michael Gellar, known as "Huckleberry Mike," occupies an apartment in the city jail this morning for coming into town from his country abode and imbibing to plentification of the particular "poison" that makes a crazy drunk. He was picked up by Officer Morris when he got too "obstreperous" and conducted to the lockup. He will probably have an opportunity this afternoon to pay for his fun when Judge Tappan gets hold of him.

FAREWELL SERVICES.

ALAMEDA, August 22.—Tomorrow farewell services will be held in the First Presbyterian Church, at the corner of Versailles and Santa Clara avenues, and the occasion is to be made a memorable one to the communicants of that body. Charles St. John of San Francisco, an artist working in the studio of J. L. Fisher of Alameda, will narrate interesting reminiscences of the early struggles of the membership, and in the evening Judge Ellsworth and Phineas Barton will deliver addresses appropriate to the occasion. A special musical program has been arranged for both morning and evening services. This church was dedicated nearly thirty-six years ago, the exact date being March 8, 1868.

In accordance with action of a meeting of the trustees and congregation held on the 19th inst., the trustees will immediately begin to take down the old structure, the material to be used as far as possible in the new one to be erected. Services attendant upon the removal of the old building will be held Saturday, September 4th, at 4 p. m. at Santa Clara avenue and Chestnut street. While the new church is building, devotional services will be held in the Sunday School building.

Let us show you this piano that will prove satisfactory in every particular, one that is artistic in exterior finish and one that will, during your life time, retain the sweet, pure tone that has when heard in the salesroom.

ORDINANCES ARE RECEIVED

SOUTHERN PACIFIC COMPANY WHITES CITY CLERK OF THEIR RECEIPT.

ALAMEDA, August 22.—City Clerk Gillogly is in receipt of a letter from General Manager Krutschmitt acknowledging receipt of the ordinances forwarded from here embodying the ideas of the Board of Trustees on the franchise subject and advises that they have been referred to the company's legal department and that Mr. Shay has been requested to take up personally with the City Clerk the question of date for a conference with the Trustees.

ASSISTANT RESIGNS.

ALAMEDA, August 22.—Assistant Veterinary Inspector Bert Marshall has resigned, to accept a permanent position with William Patton, a Park-street cigar dealer. The vacancy thus created has been filled by the appointment of C. H. W. Norton, at present an officer of the Oakland Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

VISITORS WERE IMPRESSED.

ALAMEDA, August 22.—A large number of visiting veterans stopped off here yesterday to view this beautiful little city, and all of them expressed their delight with it and with the treatment accorded them, and several stated that it would not be long until they had located here, if they could see a satisfactory disposal of their holdings in the frozen East.

TAKEN ACROSS THE BAY.

ALAMEDA, August 22.—The remains of Walter S. Eagar were conveyed to San Francisco at 10:30 o'clock this morning. Services were held at the chapel at the Odd Fellows' Cemetery, and the body was cremated.

BURIED UNIDENTIFIED.

ALAMEDA, August 22.—No one called to view the remains found floating off the Bay Farm Island shore Wednesday morning, and yesterday the body was buried. An inquest will be conducted tomorrow morning with Judge Cone as presiding officer.

ENJOYED A BOUQUET.

ALAMEDA, August 22.—Quite a party of Alamedans' veterans went to San Francisco last night to participate in the campfire at Mechanics' Hall that closed the festivities of a camping week. Judged by their stories this morning, it was a banquet they ate at and not a baked bean and chow mein affair.

ABLE TO B: OUT.

ALAMEDA, August 22.—George Foster, who has been confined to the house for some time with rheumatism, was able to leave this morning for Marin Springs, where he hopes to be completely cured.

WIL RAISE FUNDS.

ALAMEDA, August 22.—The West End Improvement Club has turned its energies toward the immediate betterment of Webster street. It proposes to raise $15,000, part of which it thinks Orland residents ought to contribute, because they will derive the most benefit from the work to be done, and the T. & L. Rent Company will be asked to expend $10,000.

WILL HAVE MORE ROOM.

COMMITTEE ON SCHOOL HOUSES DELIBERATED ON BOND QUESTION.

The Committee on School Houses and Sites met in executive session last night and considered the expense necessary to complete the equipment of the city schools as far as buildings might be concerned and prepared estimates for the bonds, which will probably be submitted to the voters of the city in the near future. The result of the deliberations will be embodied in a report to the Board of Education and will be voted on by the body.

The proposed bond issue will benefit the Oakland district, which includes the city proper and the annexed districts of Piedmont and Piedmont Heights.

The meeting last night was called especially for the purpose of discussing the matter of more room for the use of schools in the city. The committee has deliberated the question of expenses and the methods of raising the money for this project, and this matter will be the burden of the report which will be submitted to the Board of Education.

The committee, composed of John D. Isaacs (chairman), F. M. Hathaway and D. Robertson, with Superintendent McCloud and an ex-officio member of the board.

IN MEMORY OF ARMSTRONG.

NEW YORK, August 22.—Ground has been broken at Rhinebeck Cemetery on the Hudson for the erection of a mausoleum to the memory of General John Armstrong, who, in 1813 and 1814, was Secretary of War and United States Minister plenipotentiary to the court of France. It is being erected by Henry Beckman Armstrong and James S. Armstrong, two grandsons of General Armstrong. The body of General Armstrong lies in an ancient vault in the cemetery there. John Jacob Astor is his only living grandson.

LAWYER ACCEPTS UNIVERSITY'S OFFER.

HONOLULU, August 22, (7:45 a. m.)—H. A. Biglow, an attorney of this city, to whom was tendered the chair of criminal law in the University of Chicago, has accepted the offer and will leave shortly for Chicago to assume his duties at the university. Mr. Biglow was formerly an associate professor at Harvard, of which institution he is a graduate.

AMERICANS ARE DIRTY.

THE WATER SITUATION.

Sometimes the optimistic and somewhat bumptious confidence of Americans in their superiority over the rest of the world gets a severe jolt in a quarter where it is least expected. We pride ourselves on being a cleanly people, and it is rather jarring to be told point blank that we are addicted to dirty habits and untidy ways; but to be shown wherein we are derelict makes the matter worse. Perhaps the truth-telling may make us better. Professor Charles Zueblin is the derring individual who has put us nationally speaking in the unclean category. Speaking to a class at Chicago University on "Clean Cities," Professor Zueblin said:

"The American people are not cleanly enough. I mean the native born Americans, whose ancestors date back to the revolution. They multiply bathtubs in their houses, but they spit on the sidewalk and throw refuse in the alleys. Smoke from their chimneys covers the land with grime. All these things indicate a barbaric idea of cleanliness."

Isn't this brutal statement bristling with truth? Do we not see it borne out in walking around the City of Oakland? There is an element of dirtiness in keeping houses clean but dumping filth in the streets. There is an immense amount of this paradoxical cleanliness in Oakland, though there has been some reform since Mayor Olney started his street-cleaning movement and called on the women to help; and in the interests of public decency and health we should make an effort to do better.

Two-thirds of the filth and trash thrown into the streets is thrown there because of carelessness, laziness or thoughtlessness. If people can be brought to a realization of how unsightly and unhealthy the practice of throwing nasty things in the street is, a long step would be made toward improvement. If people can only be induced to reflect at the right time, they will be ready to discontinue a practice that disgraces the city and lays them open to the charge of being dirty.

A man near Fresno has been struck. Is this the effect of the aspiration in behalf of a summer resort hotel at that point?

President Roosevelt rises to remark that Uncle Sam is not some kinds of a union man.

THE FOLSOM INQUISITION.

It is stated that the grand jury of Sacramento county will institute an inquiry into the recent break of Folsom prison. What particular object is to be served by the proposed inquiry does not appear. The prison is a State and not a county institution, and the Constitution vests the control of it absolutely in the hands of the Prison Directors and the Warden; consequently any recommendation the county grand jury might make would be without force and effect. Of course it is the duty of the grand jury to take cognizance of crimes and criminal practices within its jurisdiction, but what the Sacramento body has to do with Folsom Prison further than to indict prisoners concerned in the break is not easy to see.

It is not susceptible that any of the officers and guards connived at the break. At least no disclosures giving color to such a supposition has yet been made. It is said that a searching inquiry is to be made as to why the guards were so negligent and why the standing orders in regard to firing on escaping convicts were disregarded. Such an investigation is properly the province of the Prison Directors. The grand jury has no authority in the premises. Neglect and disobedience to orders are not indictable offenses.

If the proposed grand jury inquiry is prompted by no higher motive than desire to "rip the prison management up" to promote political ends or gratify personal grudges, it will be a mischievous proceeding. It will have a bad effect on the convicts confined in the prison and on the subordinates on duty there. It can do no good and if directed by personal or political intrigue will be unworthy of countenance.

However, there may be reasons for a grand jury inquiry which do not appear on the surface and with which the public is unacquainted. It is proper, therefore, to suspend judgment till the proposed investigation justifies itself or proves itself to be an impudent incursion for ulterior purposes. If the grand jury is out simply on a smelling excursion it is in contemptible business.

The Grand Army veterans proved themselves to be good fighters as well as good fighters. We have history for it that a sound digestion promotes patriotism and a healthy view of politics.

ALL HAPPY.

"Yes," said the college president, "we've had a very prosperous year." "I'm not surprised," said the admiral of the institution. "Your college has a happy faculty for that sort of thing." "Well, I assure you, it was a happy faculty on account of it."—Philadelphia Press.

message to the prevailing prejudice against the Water Company. He says it is unpopular, and expresses the hope that popular resentment will not stand in the way of doing the company justice. If the rate payers had just cause to complain at times the company has not always been treated fairly; it has at times been the victim of political repressions. Nevertheless we had hoped that an adjustment would be reached that would give us lower rates and peace in municipal politics so far as the water question is concerned. The present rates are admittedly high—higher than they ought to be, we think—and we would like to see them lowered. It is vitally important that this city should have an abundant supply of pure water delivered at reasonable rates, which do not fluctuate with the rise and fall of political factions.

It must be said that our water supply is better than ever before in point of purity. The water from Lake Chabot is precisely the same character of water that the Bay Cities Company proposes to sell the city. The water from the Alvarado wells is the same kind of water that is found in the Niles Cone. The pipe system was never in as excellent condition as it is today. During the past year an immense sum has been spent in placing the entire plant in thorough repair.

This brings us to another point for consideration. Neither the Bay Cities nor the Niles Cone project proposes to give us water any different or any better than that we are now getting. It is estimated that the proposed Bay Cities supply will yield 20,000,000 gallons daily the year round. Lake Chabot and the Alvarado wells have a proved continuous capacity of 18,000,000 gallons daily. Indeed under pressure during one dry season they were drawn on to the extent of 15,000,000 gallons a day for several months. For a proved supply of 18,000,000 gallons a day the Mayor proposes to pay $2,500,000. For an estimated but not guaranteed supply of 20,000,000 gallons a day he proposes to pay $5,750,000. This is $270,000 per million gallons for the developed and proved supply—a supply that can be enlarged—as against $287,500 per million gallons for an unproved and undeveloped supply. We may not get 20,000,000 gallons a day from the Bay Cities watershed and it may cost more than $5,750,000 to obtain and develop the amount that can be developed. But we do know that Lake Chabot and the Alvarado wells as they stand will yield 18,000,000 gallons a day indefinitely. By spending $200,000 another million gallons a day can be had from Chabot. There is also a tract of 4000 acres of water shed. The Bay Cities Company proposes to sell the city upwards of $7,000,000, which we deem to be excessive, the value of the plant used in supplying Oakland is upwards of $7,000,000, which we deem to be excessive, the rates have, as a matter of fact, never been fixed on a valuation as high as $6,000,000—considerably less than that sum in fact.

Thus with a plant costing in the neighborhood of $6,000,000, the municipality would be forced into competition with an established plant owned by a corporation that draws two-thirds of its present revenue from territory outside the city limits. The city would also lose part or all the taxes it now receives from the Water Company.

These are facts, not conclusions, and they must be faced whether we like them or not. We take the Mayor's figures without question and pursue them to their logical sequence. Their compel consideration, and the citizens of Oakland who are asked to vote a bonded debt to the extent of twelve percent of the assessed valuation of all the property in the city will close their eyes to their plain duty and their personal interests if they fail to give them thoughtful and dispassionate study.

We believe the city should own and manage its own water supply. If possible the sale of water should be a municipal monopoly. A public monopoly is preferable to a private monopoly, and the city can supply consumers water at smaller cost to them and greater profit to itself if it has a monopoly of the business. We had hoped to see private competition eliminated with the establishment of public ownership but this may not be under the terms of the proposition submitted by the Mayor or to the Council.

The directors of the Contra Costa Company could not accept the offer embodied in the Mayor's message if they desired to do so. The company's property is covered by a blanket mortgage which cannot be extinguished save by the cancellation of the bonds which fall due at different dates. The city cannot guarantee those bonds and the corporation's officers have no power to call them in. Had they been privately presented with an offer they might have negotiated with the holders for the purchase of the bonds. But it is too late for that now. But the tender of $3,500,000 would not have been accepted had it been in the power of the Water Company's officers to do so, for the reason that, as we are informed from reliable sources, Lake Chabot and its watershed independent of the distributing system can be sold separately for more than $3,500,000. It cannot be sold to others at any time without the consent of the bondholders.

Hints for the Ladies.

Useful and pretty are the small pins about an inch long and 1/16th apart, without which that are set with a row of diamond chips and are intended for lace and waist pins.

A handsome bed set, consisting of a shaped spread and a bolster cover of net with a deep valance and fringed with insertions and lace edging in profuse for less than $1.

Yuk lace, which is a wool lace in geometrical designs resembling a coarse tarchen, is to be among the specialties of the fall and winter and is to be obtained in almost all the colors.

Some excellent tatting silk in odd shades of red, green and purple is offered at 35 cents a yard and is really worth more. While the colors are not those liked for dress wear, these silks are excellent for linings and for making petticoats.

Drop-front lists for women are among the late novelties. They come in white, pink and blue and are especially designed for wear with the transparent voile waist, there being merely a suggestion of a shoulder strap and an entire lace front.

Belt pins almost as large as a silver dollar with a large turquoise set around with alligator work. Sterling silver is among the pretty things in the jewelry shops.

Broad-tail ghillines are shown in a great variety of colors in the shops and are to be the rage for fall and winter suits. One beautiful suit shown is made of a dark brown ghilline and is absolutely without trimming, the richness of the material being quite sufficient unto itself.

The hitherto despised red-and-yellow cotton handkerchiefs have at last found a place and are now used to make soft pillow covers. It takes four of these handkerchiefs to make one cover, as two are used for the cover and two for the deep ruffle which surrounds the pillow.

Fringe is to be extremely popular this coming season and the Town Thumb fringe will be much used to edge blouses, capes and boleros, while many of the wider and handwoven varieties will be used as decoration on skirts and bodices. The shops are now showing some splendid designs in needle and knotted fringe.

The shops are showing the fall waists and it is quite apparent from these showings that we are to have a "white winter," for among all the pretty waists exhibited there is not a colored one, the all-white ones, with perhaps now and then a touch of color in the shape of a belt or else regarding supreme. These beautiful waists come in many different materials—lace, chiffon, tulle, crepe, de chine and peau de cygne and all elaborately trimmed with lace insets and motifs.

One enterprising vanner has just finished the trimming of a fete-garde coat. It is of ecru, cut cushioned, with a white and yellow floral batiste. She has woven long stole cords for an ornamentation to the front. They are three inches wide in a pretty pattern of yellow bands on a white background. Narrow bands in a similar pattern furnish the cuffs. These lead stoles promise to be fashionables, as they add a touch of elegance to the simplest wrap. Often the stole broadens toward the bottom and is finished off by a fringe of the head.

Housekeepers who like to look neat while at work might make themselves a "dusting set," which completes apron, sleeves and cap. Ordinary cross-bound toweling may be used, and the hem of the apron should be at least one foot in depth. Drilled in the center by a line of moist stitching, this hem provides two loops and very useful pockets, which may be used to carry the various dustors needed. The sleevelets, of the same material, are made like those for office use, and the mob cap has a flat ruffle around it. These things so protect the person that a neat dress may be worn without fear of injury while at work.

At any rate the inhabitants of Oakland are entitled to the fullest measure of information on all the questions involved, and they should be given this information by experts. The sources of supply that the Bay Cities Company offers to sell to the city should be carefully examined by competent engineers, the titles to the lands and water rights carefully examined and all the data submitted to the people at as early a date as possible that they may have a thorough understanding of the subject. Until then no absolute conclusion can be reached.

WE EDITORS AND THE BIBLE.

THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE and the Stockton Mail have been adding to the silliness of the silly son by carrying on a controversy as to Stockton's desirability as a summer resort. The Mail editor cited scripture to his purpose, while the Tribune referred him to the "Question."

We should not have alluded to the matter a second time at all, but for the fact that the first comment of THE TRIBUNE appears to have induced the editor of the Mail to study the Bible. It is no small feat to drag a Stockton man to read the Bible, and our hero did correspondingly execite.

If you desire to be beautiful you should do all you can to restore your health if you have lost it, or keep it if you have it still. To have a fresh complexion, bright eyes and well developed, graceful figure, you must be well. Health and the happiness which comes from it are the secrets of beauty.

The pen of the Almighty has written on our palms the story of our lives.

ELK DEDICATORY SERVICES

FORMAL POSSESSION BY LODGE OF BEAUTIFUL NEW QUARTERS.

Oakland Lodge of Elks has taken possession of its beautiful new club rooms and lodge but it has done so only in an informal manner. It is the intention, however, of the lodge to formally dedicate its quarters to the purpose for which they were intended and this dedication will take place about the middle of September. Preparations are now being made for the event by a special committee of the lodge of which A. T. McDonough is chairman. The other members of the committee are J. M. Shanley, Ward Pelton, Julius Seubenger and Dr. Wilbur Hausey. The details of the exercises have not yet been decided upon, but it is believed that, among other things, there will be a formal turning over of the structure, club and lodge rooms, by the special building committee to the cuttee of the trustees of the lodge. There will also be a literary and musical program rendered in which amateurs and professionals will take part.

The officers of Elk Lodges in this vicinity have been invited to be present and it is expected that many of them will be present, as will also a number of the grand officers of the order in the State. It is not improbable that Past Grand Exalted Ruler Detroler, who still takes a great deal of interest in the order, and who is kindly remembered by the Elks of this State, may grace the occasion with his presence.

The formal dedicatory services will be exclusively for members of the order. They will be followed, a week or two later, by a reception in honor of the ladies of the families of the members of the organization.

The club and lodge room of the local body of Elks are among the finest of the kind in the country and the members are justly proud of them.

The members also appreciate the work of the Building Committee which comprises George W. Reed, Joseph Lan-tree, Frank W. Leavitt, Julius Seub-enger, C. L. Inger, A. T. McDonough

and Senator G. R. Lutkens.

FOR PET ANIMALS.

BOSTON, August 22.—A project is on foot by the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals to establish in Boston a cemetery for the burial of pet animals and birds. Subscriptions are now being solicited. One Massachusetts woman is having a $500 marble monument erected on an island off the coast for a dog which recently died.

GONE TO THE ORIENT.

MISS MAE PERKINS.

On Saturday, August 8, Miss Mae Perkins sailed on the Siberia for Honolulu, Japan and Hongkong. She will, in all probability, continue her journey to Manila, where she expects to be joined by her brother, Fred, who is paymaster on the U. S. S. Albany. Miss Perkins was accompanied by Mrs. R. H. Josselyn Griffin of Washington, D. C., as chaperone. Miss Mae's many friends wish her bon voyage and a happy and safe return.

MAKES HIS WORK DR. COOL CARRIES A SCIENCE.

METHODISTS SECURE SUNDAY SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT FROM CONGREGATIONALISTS.

The bringing of modern educational ideas into Sunday School work by I. N. Halliday, late superintendent of the First Congregational Sunday School, has attended with so much success that his services have been retained by the First Methodist Episcopal Church as a salaried official of that organization.

Last night the quarterly conference of the First M. E. Church officially ratified the choice of Mr. I. N. Halliday as its salaried Sunday School superintendent. This choice was made a few weeks ago.

This choice was made a few weeks ago.

On Tuesday evening by a large and enthusiastic meeting of the officers and teachers of the school. He will be formally recognized by the church and Sunday School on an installation service to be held Sunday, September 6.

Mr. Halliday's resignation as superintendent of the First Congregational Sunday School was accepted by the church last evening, and a committee met that same evening to arrange for the securing of his successor. The task was accomplished since Mr. Halliday came to the city in December, 1901.

A few days ago Dr. Cool learned of the matter and said he would stay to come to San Jose and secure a force of plumbers to repair the pipes. Work was commenced on the job at midnight.

Dr. Cool and three others armed with shotguns stood guard to see that the plumbers were not molested. It was not until 8:30 the next morning that Forman Farwell discovered that he had been outwitted while he slept.

Seeing the force at work on the pipes, Farwell summoned all the ranch hands and prepared to drive the workmen from the field. As the Farwell force reached the scene of action Dr. Cool and his armed guard came forward.

The sight of the guns and the demand of the doctor that they keep away caused Farwell's force to scatter.

By the time the force of remaining the waterline was completed, Farwell had been served with an injunction restraining him from interfering with the pipes. Mrs. Cool's suit had asked for a permanent injunction against George W. Hume and Farwell and also damages.

JANE LONGLAID DEAD.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Jane Anna Longland, who as a child, danced with the Duke of Wellington, who saw the coronation of Queen Victoria and was friendly with the children of Don Carlos, the pretender to the Spanish throne, is dead at her home in Brooklyn.

She was 94 years of age. Her father was an interpreter in the royal navy. The children of Don Carlos lived in his home for some time while he acted as their tutor.

Resolved. That said resignation be accepted.

Resolved. That we express our sincere appreciation of the energy, fidelity and devotion shown by Mr. Halliday during the two years he has served as our superintendent.

Resolved. That we record our deep regard for his Christian character and his genuine consecration to the work of Christ among children and young people, and that we extend to him our best wishes for the largest success in his new field of labor.

SHE WILL GIVE LESSONS.

Madame Caro Roma, known in private life as Carrie Northery, has taken apartments at 523 Turk street, San Francisco, where she is to give lessons in voice culture, concert or oratorio. Roma is always doing something to interest her friends.

GOOD WORK OF H. D. ROWE

SUPERVISOR WAS CHAIRMAN OF THE REFRESHMENT COMMITTEE.

It is conceded on all sides that the reception to the Veterans in Oakland yesterday was a great success.

Over seven thousand people were fed under the Willows at Lake Merritt.

The work was carried on systematically; there was no confusion, all was harmony, and everybody was satisfied and had a good time. Too much credit it cannot be given to the Reception Committee which has labored for a week to accomplish the result which was brought about yesterday.

Supervisor H. D. Rowe was chairman of the Refreshment Committee. For a week he has been working assiduously to make the affair of yesterday a success. That Mr. Rowe and his committee did their work well is evidenced by the success of the reception under the Willows. The old Veterans, their wives and children, were wonderfully pleased with the luncheon given in their behalf. On all sides Mr. Rowe and his committee have been commended for their good work.

MAYOR THANKS THE COMMITTEE.

"Mayor's Office, Oakland, Cal., August 22, 1903. J. W. Evans, chairman; Edwin Stearns, secretary; Theodore Gier, H. D. Rowe, E. Lehnhardt, J. D. Henneberry, L. A. Borrett, Thomas Pearson, Oakland; Dr. T. Carpenter, Alameda; H. B. Griffith, Berkeley; John McCaughan, Hayward; and the people who contributed and especially the ladies who gave their services in preparing the luncheon and waiting upon the veterans and their families."

"Ladies and Gentlemen: The people of Alameda county thank you most heartily for the work you did as their representatives in the reception of the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic and their families yesterday. Those of you who were on the committee of arrangements gave all your time and energy for many days previous to the work in hand. The contributors made it possible to give the veterans a generous reception, and the work of the ladies was not only most strenuous, but absolutely necessary to make the reception a success. Again thanking you in behalf of the people, I am very truly yours," WARREN OLNEY, Mayor."

FAST TIME BY SPECIAL TRAIN.

The Santa Fe's remarkable run with the special train carrying millionaire H. F. Lowe, of the Engineering Company of America, from Chicago to Los Angeles, established a new trans-continental record. The train left the Santa Fe Station in Chicago at 10:15 a. m. Wednesday and arrived in Los Angeles at 1:05 p. m. Friday, August 7th, covering the 2265 miles at an average rate of 42.8 miles per hour and beating the time of the Santa Fe's California Limited by more than 15 hours. The fastest previous run to the coast was made by the Pacific Special from West to East, its average speed being 41.7 miles an hour between Los Angeles and Chicago.

JACQUES-RALEIGH WEDDING.

The wedding of Miss Mildred Raleigh and L. O. Jacques will take place tomorrow at the home of the bride's parents, 1715 Valdez street.

Miss Raleigh is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Raleigh. She is a compact blonde and her sweet and amiable disposition has won for her a host of friends.

Mr. Jacques is the son of Mrs. Mr. Van Valkenburg and is prominent in fraternal circles, being Vice-Chancellor of Brooklyn Lodge, No. 32, Knights of Pythias.

Following the ceremony an elaborate dinner will be served after which the newly married pair will go away on a brief honeymoon. Upon their return they will be at home to their friends at their residence, 350 Union street.

MRS. NELSON TESTIFIES.

NEW YORK, August 22.—Mrs. Anna Nelson, mother of Mrs. C. L. Fair, who is fighting heirs to the estate on the ground that she was hoodwinked into signing a settlement by which she was deprived of her rightful share of the property, has been compelled to testify while lying ill at her home in Caldwell, New Jersey. The witness was able to sit up in bed but became exhausted before completing her affidavit.

"TOWN TALK."

There are several exclusive stories in "Town Talk" this week, and the best of all is the long and interesting one of how a San Francisco newspaper man unraveled a marred marriage in China which puzzled the sleuths who draw salaries from the municipality. There is another good story about Charles Wesley Reed and other topics touched upon by the clever "Saunterer" are: Some G. A. Grimes; Al Grimes, amateur artist; Charles Dilworth's great fake; Titus rugge's rise; some army stories about men of prominence; Little Anne Magee's met; Fred Greenwood's experience with an artist, a Californian who ought to write a book; etc. There are also stories about the "Milk People" and a charming sketch by Gabrielle Ashland, with the usual collection of brilliant bits of miscellany. The literary quality of "Town Talk" is everywhere commented on for its rare excellence.

THE STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, August 22.—The recovery in the stock market was checked this week, the violent manipulation of a few stocks to cover speculative profit marking the culmination of the advance. A sharp reaction followed and the market then fluctuated rather irregularly. The coming interior demand for currency has occupied the attention and has been reflected in a hardening money market. Selling of stocks for account led to a sharp drop in the exchange market due to the fact that the crops regarded as satisfactory but the latest news of the corn crop still causes concern. The rise in copper helped the stock market and increased demand for iron at lower prices was reported. Receipts of Australian gold at San Francisco were added to New York bank reserves.

Stop and Think

WHEN ADVISED THAT
SURGERY IS THE ONLY WAY TO CURE

A Bad Case of Piles

Make haste slowly in this matter. If surgery is decided upon it means hospital, chlorform, opates, confinement to bed for weeks and perhaps, a life of invalidism. In this progressive era there is no necessity for ANY CASE OF PILES TO BE CUT. These old methods are rapidly disappearing as relics of the past and a new, more perfect, radical and humane treatment taking its place which cures without endangering life or hindrance to daily pursuits.

Nearly six thousand men and women—many in this and nearby cities, have been permanently cured. Many of these cases were of thirty to forty years' standing, who take great pleasure in relating to their suffering friends their experiences with this new treatment, and those may be consulted personally.

If you are a sufferer, it will be worth your while to investigate this matter. It is safe and absolutely certain, and is not a nostrum proposition. Names will be sent for investigation. For particulars call on or write

The Approaching Season Demands a Good Range

There is no better range than "The Garland." This range was a good one years ago, when it was first made. It is much better now, because of the many improvements that experience has suggested.

One lady told us that she would have no other because "The Garland" is always there when you want it." This is very expressive language. It simply means that "The Garland" is a range that never disappoints.

THE MEDDLER

Stark Gown Makes Meddler Gasp—Robert Mein's Engagement Broken.

ROBERT MEIN IS NOT ENGAGED.

My Athenian Club friend gave me a bit of gossip last night. Have you heard that Robert Mein's engagement with the New York young lady is broken? Well, I'm told it is a fact.

VISIT OF THE GRAND ARMY.

Everything is Grand Army just now. The martial spirit is abroad in the land and where the Civil War veteran was a little despised once upon a time when pension frauds were at their height, he is now the old hero, beloved by everyone, and his gray hair will go down with honor to the grave. I used to have ideas on the pension question myself and I expressed them with the buoyant self-sufficiency of youth, but seeing that parades of bent and aged men on Wednesday I felt as though every veteran of them all should have a pension for what they went through or was willing to go through in the long ago.

Fine old men they are—some of them merely aged boys for some people never grow old. Some of them literally scampered along, so blithesome and dapper and chipper were they. Others were fine of figure and straight of back and keen of eyesight even now, but looking across the backs of the rows most of the shoulders were bent wearily and most of the limbs a little shrunken. But some of the veterans wore their hats on one side, as I fancy, have always done so.

One needs imagination to enjoy Wednesday's parade. To my mind's eye was reproduced that scene for years ago when these same men marched out of their native towns, fine and strong and slim in their young manhood and their suits of blue. How the children must have cheered and how the women wept, their hearts quite broken, for scarcely a woman in that day but had from one to six of the men dearest to her in one or the other of these mighty armies. And then the heart-breaking anxiety, the waiting for news! Telegraphs were not what they are in our day and sometimes news that a great battle had been fought would come and it would be days before the details would follow, as to what troops had been engaged, what thousands of men cut down, for war was a frightfully real thing then, and there were no bloodless engagements like so many of those in our late brush with Spain.

And then would come the long lists of killed and wounded—how the women pored over those lists, with what trembling lips, what dimmed eyes they read the long lists and then the terrible word "missing," and after that the names of those who were never to be heard of again, dead, perhaps, in those in our late brush with Spain.

And then would come the long lists of killed and wounded—how the women pored over those lists, with what trembling lips, what dimmed eyes they read the long lists and then the terrible word "missing," and after that the names of those who were never to be heard of again, dead, perhaps, in some far-away prison or filling an unnamed grave!

How crowded must the ear of the Most High have been during these awful years. What prayers floated up, what terrible groans of wretched millions, what piteous cries for mercy! And then, after the war, when the remnant came home—one-armed, one-legged—eyesight gone, health gone, morals gone—sometimes back to the women who had been waiting those four years. With farm gone to rack and ruin, without money to go on, what a train of misery and wretchedness that war left in its train. And as I looked at those marching men Wednesday, amidst the cheering thousands who waved flags and watched them, I could see, hovering over them, the millions who gave up their lives and the millions of women whose happiness and lives were wrecked by that grisly thing. War, and I felt as though everyone who saw it must feel like going out as an apostle to preach the creed of eternal peace.

And as I watched them I remembered a man who once said that the reason women could not exercise the real right of citizenship was because they could not bear arms and, hearing across the years the faint voices of the women who gave up their men to fight and who skimped themselves and their children in soul and body to send clothes and food and medicine and bandages to the men at the front and to the men in prison, it seemed to me a coward's argument. Whenever a citizen is born some woman offers her life for her country and while he's in his cradle it is she who does the picket duty and for a good many years she is his commissary and forages for him and it almost seems to me that in war the hardest thing to do is to stay at home and wait and the easiest thing to go and fight.

But just then the tattered battle flags of Pennsylvania passed—the blood on the white stripes and the stars have been shot away but whenever they went on Wednesday they received a baptism of love and silence—the silence of hearts too full for utterance—followed the deafening cheers with which their appearance was first received.

And so one feels very kindly for the bowed men trudging along, for the cheeks deep gashed by saber cuts, for the eyes that are replaced by green patches and for the wooden legs and the empty, dangling sleeves and one wishes to do something personal to show one's deep feeling and deeper reverence. Many of the veterans looked like farmers. I didn't see many good fits among the clothes and the iron and the whisk broom seemed implements unknown, but the well-dressed men and women who cheered these marching thousands from building and sidewalk did not waste much time in thinking of these things, for a man's man for a' that.

LIEUTENANT HORNE QUITE A WEALTHY MAN.

To come back from things militant to things social by easy transition, I hear that Lieutenant Horne, who married pretty Alma McClung some weeks ago, is quite a wealthy young fellow in his own right and so Mrs. Horne will be able to follow her husband's ship about and have that fine time which pertains to navy wives when they have money enough and are foot-loose. The wedding was a great surprise to Mrs. Horne's relatives. Even Mrs. Cole, the bride's grandmother was not informed that it was coming until it was all over. There were romances on both sides and broken engagements and all that, they say, but these are very common nowadays and don't count, and, besides, the adage that bad promises are better broken than kept applies as much to engagements as to anything else, for all I've ever heard.

ANOTHER ROMANCE FORGIVEN.

And so Miss Daisy Parrott who married young Payne Whitney has been forgiven. She is ill at one of the hospitals and her mother is with her, which is quite the way it should be, of course. The Whitneys live up in the mountains but spend a lot of time in San Francisco. Miss Beryl Whitney had a romance of her own, you know, and married the college man whose attentions procured her dismissal from school, so all ends happily with a great ringing of marriage bells.

MRS. PHOEBE HEARST'S GUESTS.

Mrs. Phoebe Hearst has had as her guests all summer at the Hacienda, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rogers of Boston, the former, a well-known lawyer and club man of that city. Latterly, the Rogers have been on the McCloud river at Mrs. Hearst's place. In a few weeks, Mr. Rogers will return to Boston for some important business. Mrs. Rogers will remain with Mrs. Hearst and, on Mr. Rogers' return, the entire party will go to Japan. In the meantime, Mr. and Mrs. William Randolph Hearst will visit Mrs. Hearst and are these other battle standards, which formed the rallying point for many a battered regiment or company. There is blood on the white stripes and the stars have been shot away but whenever they went on Wednesday they received a baptism of love and silence—the silence of hearts too full for utterance—followed the deafening cheers with which their appearance was first received.

And so one feels very kindly for the bowed men trudging along, for the cheeks deep gashed by saber cuts, for the eyes that are replaced by green patches and for the wooden legs and the empty, dangling sleeves and one wishes to do something personal to show one's deep feeling and deeper reverence. Many of the veterans looked like farmers. I didn't see many good fits among the clothes and the iron and the whisk broom seemed implements unknown, but the well-dressed men and women who cheered these marching thousands from building and sidewalk did not waste much time in thinking of these things, for a man's man for a' that.

A BROKEN BRIDAL NOT A SURPRISE.

The news that Dr. Edwin Bunnell was suing his wife for a divorce is not precisely a surprise to Oaklanders. Mrs. Bunnell was pretty Mary Randolph who used to live in Myrtle street and who was such a fascinating fluffy little girl, and the marriage occurred here a few years ago. She is a niece of Colonel Beck who recently, after being for many years a bachelor, died in the wool, took unto himself a wife, Mary Randolph Bunnell comes of excellent Southern family but those who knew the couple best fit that the marriage was, from the first, an experiment. Dr. Bunnell is, I understand, a successful physician, but he has a very quick temper. The only matter in dispute is over the amount of money for the support of the child, Mrs. Bunnell desiring the divorce as ardently as the young doctor himself. But all the same, it's a pity.

EARLY LUNCHEONS FOR THE FALL.

So many early luncheons are coming off and so many are promised before we get our fall wardrobe that we are quite hustling ourselves to get our clothes. It means an early season, I can see, and the luncheon will be the popular form of entertainment for the early fall at least. They are so much less trouble and so much less formal than dinners and then here are so many women who are just sweet and lovely and for whom you care while their husbands you scarcely know or perhaps—whisper it—you do not like. And then there are the women without husbands, though they are getting very scarce in Oakland society now.

"The Devil's Disciple," by Bernard Shaw is a fine play to read but not nearly as interesting to see. The first act is full of long speeches and Mrs. Seltzer who played the part of the elderly Puritan shrew did it very badly to my way of thinking. Miss Anglin has a part full of inconsistencies. She kept well within the picture and looked

SOCIAL LEADERS MAKE PLANS.

This is the time of the year when the social leaders make their plans for the winter and from present indications it would appear that the coming season in San Francisco will be even as gay as was the last. Ned Greenway will reorganize the Friday Night Club. He has selected the dates for his parties and engaged Native Sons Hall for the events. His list is made out and the invitations will be issued shortly.

It is understood that Mrs. Salsbury will give her series of Fortnightly dances and that the patricesses of La Jeunesse will give a number of assemblies. There will be a goodly number of debutantes who will prove the cause or excuse for a great deal of entertaining. People are returning from the country in numbers and it will not be long before the ceaseless round of teas, luncheons, dinners and dances has begun.

NOW FOR THE NEXT ENGAGEMENT.

The next engagement to be announced in San Francisco will be that of a tall statuesque blonde who has been out a number of seasons and who for several years has traveled extensively. Like her sister, who married an army surgeon, she will marry a member of the medical profession. The man was formerly connected with the army but is not at present. He is spoken of in the very highest terms.

THE MILLER-ANGLIN SEASON.

The Miller-Anglin season opened this week at the Columbia Theatre with crowded houses. They will make money. The first night was jammed and so were all the rest of the houses for the week. Let me tell you a secret. First nights are no longer fashionable. They used to be but the commercial element, composed of those people who are merely rich and no more, heard of it and straightway began to buy up all the seats. After that first nights could not be fashionable any more as the people who made them so were not in the house. Tuesday night the Columbia was full of the people who make society. The house was dotted with light half-evening gowns and there were some rich and beautiful coats. Thursday night is also a fashionable night. That is the night when the Burlingame crowd appears in all its glory. Last Thursday night there were a number of Oaklanders in the house, among them Miss Mayetta Havens, Mr. and Mrs. J. Walter Scott and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jacobs, who, with a party of friends, occupied a box. Mrs. Jacobs was a pretty pink gown.

"The Devil's Disciple," by Bernard Shaw is a fine play to read but not nearly as interesting to see. The first act is full of long speeches and Mrs. Seltzer who played the part of the elderly Puritan shrew did it very badly to my way of thinking. Miss Anglin has a part full of inconsistencies. She kept well within the picture and looked wife, but she was pretty in her brown and grey costumes. She is plump and looks young and rested.

Next week they put on Richard Harding Davis' first play, "The Taming of Helen."

NOW THERE WILL BE TWO ENGAGEMENTS.

Concerning the engagement which was declared off, a month or so ago, there are some very interesting rumors, according to which there will be two engagements to take the place of the one which was broken. The young man, who is here in Oakland, to spend his vacation, is said to be very much interested in a young lady whose home is in South Africa, so much interested, indeed, that the breaking of his engagement to an Oakland girl has not occasioned him as severe pangs as we imagined. And what makes it doubly interesting is that the Oakland girl who is visiting in Southern California at present seems well pleased with the renewed attentions of a very well known young man, whose home, although his business is elsewhere, is in Oakland. Judging from which I imagine the engagement was the result of an agreement to disagree, and that there are no broken hearts in the affair.

FIRST-NIGHTERS AT THE THEATER.

The first-nighters were in force the other evening at Ezra Kendall's performance in "The Vinegar Buyer" and I thought then, that taken as a whole, we're a very well-gowned lot of people, and we're unusually good to look at, too. I do not think that San Francisco women, as a rule—although there are notable exceptions—are better groomed than our Oakland women, they look as though they gave more time and thought to their appearance, but our girls and women have pretty, attractive faces with very little that is artificial about them. I don't think that many of us have laughed so much for some time. I know I haven't. It wasn't so much what he said, as the way he said it, with a droll twist to his mouth and the most benevolent twinkle in his eye, that was so amusing. I noticed Mr. and Mrs. Will Thaxter, the R. G. Browns, Mr. and Mrs. Beach Soule, and by the way, Beach looks splendidly since he's come up from the South. He's much thinner and it's very becoming to him. The Knowles girls were there, the Willins, Lettie Olivers, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Macgee, and the Minor Goodalls.

THERE ARE WEDDINGS IN THE AIR.

There are weddings in the air. Invitations are out for the marriage of Anita Louise and McClure Gregory, for Tuesday, September eighth. It is to be a home wedding, and there are only a limited number of guests to be present. She has chosen for her attendants, Miss Clarke Lohse, her sister, as maid of honor, Miss Noell De Golia, Miss Edith Gaskill and Miss Jane Crellin as bridesmaids. Anita has a dainty little trousseau,

MRS. WM. HUGHES, NEE LYNAS.

(Photo Bushnell.)

A pretty ceremony took place in the First Presbyterian Church Saturday evening, when Miss Violet Agnes Lynas became the wife of William Hughes a commission merchant of this city.

The bride was attended by Miss Maude Smith, of San Francisco, while Robert Lynas, a brother of the bride, was best man.

The young couple will reside in Oakland after their return from a short honeymoon trip.

great deal of it fashioned by her own clever fingers, and to say that she is happy hardly expresses it. They are to live for a time at the mines, in which McClure is interested, and she doesn't seem to mind the prospect of a year or so in a little mining town at all.

The next wedding that we know about now will be that of Eva Knight, who will become Mrs. Clarence Gray, home time in the last of September. I believe the day is not yet decided upon.

She is very busy with her trousseau but she was wise in not announcing her engagement until it was several months old, for that gave her a chance to have much of her sewing done before her time was taken up with social affairs.

Miss Craig of Piedmont has set her wedding day for the first of October, I believe.

MAY STAMPEDE TO SAN FRANCISCO.

I suppose there will be the usual stampede to San Francisco when the winter season is well upon us. The Pringle home in East Oakland will be closed, for the family have taken a house across the bay and expect to keep it for a number of months. I hear that the A. A. Moores have planned to winter over there, and the W. H. Chickering's. Allen Chickering and his wife have already taken a dear little flat in San Francisco, and have already begun to furnish it, although they are planning to take quite an extended trip into the mountains before they settle in it. Mr. and Mrs. Fred McNear have gone for several months, which may lengthen indefinitely, I'm told.

ROSE CREST

IS OPEN.

The Alexander Young's home, Rose Crest, is opened again for the winter, and we're glad of it, for that means much entertaining, and jolly times, for the Youngs entertain a great deal and very lavishly. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Butters are also expected home within a day or so, and Alta Vista will be opened for the winter. Some of the very jolliest house parties of the summer were at the Butters' summer home, Constantia, and I hear that it is ideally planned and managed for a country home.

SEVILLA HAYDEN'S TEA A SUCCESS.

I hear that Sevilla Hayden's informal little tea last Tuesday was a great success. Every one is so glad to see everyone else, at the beginning of the season, that the first teas are apt to be very jolly. There were charming pink decorations, and very dainty refreshments. Those who helped Sevilla to receive were Mrs. Max Taft, Miss Chrissie Taft, May Coogin, Rose Kales, Elsa Schilling, Katherine Kuts, and Josephine Johnson.

GOOD CLOTHES AND STYLE FOR POPULARITY.

It would be well if certain ones among us would take into consideration that it takes more than good clothes and a certain amount of style to make us popular. I am thinking especially of a young girl who made her debut last winter. She dresses well, has a good figure and an erect carriage, but spoils it all by her exceeding stiffness and self-consciousness, hence, she is not as popular as her very ambitious mamma would have her to be.

I don't think that that is a very common fault among our girls, but occasionally a very young debutante mistakes the attention which, as a matter of course, is given to all debutantes, as a sign of her unusual popularity, and her head is turned.

Generally the ill effects of what is no more or less than the big-head will wear off in a season or two, and if there are really any natural attractions in the girl, they will carry her through even to the seventh season.

MR. AND MRS. COOKE VISITING.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cooke, of Honolulu, are visiting here, in hopes that the change of climate will benefit Mr. Cooke's health. The Hawaiian climate, although delightful for a time, in the long run has a tendency to take the strength out of one, certainly it takes the good red blood out of their faces.

Miss H. E. Cooke, Mr. Cooke's mother, entertained most charmingly at luncheon, last Wednesday, in honor of her daughter-in-law. The dining room, which is in shades of green was an effective background for the exquisite pink table trimmings. The combination of flowers was rare and very beautiful.

A great brass bowl in the center of the table held La France roses, and sprays of graceful tiger lilies, while, from the chandelier above, hung another bowl filled with the same flowers. Broad satin ribbons and pink flowered candle shades completed the color scheme.

Among the guests were Mrs. Joseph Cooke, Mrs. William Gardner Cooke, Mrs. Frank Cooke, Miss Wilson of Gilroy, Mrs. Laura Wight, Mrs. Edward Henshaw, Miss Lucile Tucker of San Francisco, Mrs. Tyler Henshaw, Mrs.

MRS. D. WALTZ.

S. T. Alexander, Mrs. E. W. Tucker, and Miss Georgie Strong.

MISS YORKER'S AFTERNOON.

A very pretty little card afternoon was given by Miss Eva Mae Yorker on Saturday last, at which Mrs. Horbert Gaskill was the honored guest. Those who helped to receive the guests were Mrs. Fred Stolp and the Misses Larkey.

THE MEDDLER JUST WONDERED.

The other evening at the Madonough I noticed a very interesting couple, one of them, one of our prettiest, the other, a young man of Fruitvale, well known and well liked, and I wondered—but I suppose well hear all about it later.

ARLINE JOHNSON ENTERTAINED.

On Thursday Miss Arline Johnson again entertained, and this time her luncheon was in honor of Ruth Kales, who is soon to leave for the East. What good times that younger set have. I really don't see exactly where the advantage comes in from making one's debut, if they enjoy all sorts of social affairs before they are out. Of course it would do away with many good times, but sometimes I think that there is wisdom in the English fashion of keeping girls strictly to their studies until they are properly fitted for society and then when they come out there is really something new and interesting in store for them. When our girls make their debuts they are generally a bit blasé already, and in looking about for something to vary the monotony they occasionally try matrimony, when it would be much better for them to be having their first dip into society.

But to get back to where I started from, which was Arline Johnson's luncheon—the guests were from that set which are so much together lately, and included Miss Kales, Miss Sevilla Hayden, Miss Mattie Milton, Miss Rose Kales, Miss Lucretia Burnham, Miss Jean Clift, Miss Annie McElrath, Miss Marion Walsh, Miss Lillian Saltonstall, Miss Margaret Mee, Miss Kathleen Flanagan and Miss Johanna Volkmann.

AFFAIRS PLANNED FOR MRS. GILCHRIST.

A number of affairs have been planned at which Mrs. Gilchrist, who is visiting Mrs. Vernon Waldron, is to be an honored guest. Mrs. Waldron started the entertaining by an informal little tea last Tuesday. Invitations are out for an informal card afternoon at Mrs. George Hammer's cozy little place at Fruitvale, on Thursday, and those besides Mrs. Gilchrist to be honored are Miss Favor, the cousin who has been visiting Miss Jessie Gray, and Miss Eva Knight, whose engagement has been recently announced.

On Saturday Mrs. William Colby, nee Vrooman, will be hostess at an informal tea, and there again, Mrs. Gilchrist and Miss Favor and Miss Helene Black will be guests of honor. Mrs. Colby's guests will be mostly from Oakland, and among those who will help her to receive are Miss Beatrice Vrooman, Mrs. Forbes, Mrs. Vernon Waldron, Miss Gray, Miss Elizabeth Gray, the Misses Knight and Miss Marion Everson.

SEVERAL NEW ARRIVALS.

There are several new arrivals in town, and they are about the most popular people I know, just at present. One of them is a very small girl, belonging to Mrs. Jack Roberts, nee Everson, and I hear that she manages to take up the time of the whole Everson family. Mr. Roberts is still in Dawson, but expects to be in Oakland in a month or so, and if all goes as he has planned it, I think he hopes to settle permanently in this part of the world. There is also a bit of a sister or the two small Musser boys, so already, you see, there is formed the nucleus of a future Deux Temps fortnightly set.

STORK GOWN MADE HER GASP.

My eyes have been opening in amazement, lately, on beholding pictures of prominent women in the papers, with the announcement that they were expecting the stork; not long ago, in speaking of some social affair, certain women's names were mentioned, who were said to be absent on account of the near approach of that bird of good omen; and the latest is a paragraph describing a gown, called a "stork gown," worn by a prominent society woman of San Francisco. When I read that all words failed, I could only gasp. Just where will our insatiable desire for news of a personal nature lead us?

EDWARDS HOME AT PIEDMONT.

The pretty little home that Mr. David Edwards is remodelling for his bride, at Piedmont, is nearing completion, and after all, it isn't so little. It's a very artistic shingled house, and the interior, I hear is very quaint and attractive.

SHE SAW SOME TROSSEAU GOWNS.

I saw some trosseau gowns, the other day, but unfortunately I can't tell where they were, but you'll see for yourself later, probably.

One was of grass linen, almost as sheer as veiling, made over a soft ice blue silk.

There were several plaitings about the foot, finished with the tiniest line of black velvet. Heavy lace was laid onto the skirt, in the form of a yoke, with a deep point, front and back. But the thing which attracted me most was the bodice. It was cut with many seams, like a corset coat, each piped with a thread of black. The same lace which was on the skirt formed a narrow pointed yoke, which left the throat bare, save for a collar formed of strands of the black velvet, fully a half inch apart. And if you don't think that a white throat is doubly attractive between tiny bands of black velvet, try it.

About the waist was a twist of black velvet, caught, front and back with a slender gold buckle, and ending in long ends. There was a big black chiffon hat to go with this costume, whose only trimming was a knot of black velvet ribbon through a gold buckle, and a black plume which curled half way round the brim.

I saw another, of white muslin, the whole skirt of which, above the flounces, was formed of tiny puffs and Valenciennes insertion. It was made to be worn over an underdress of pale pink lace-trimmed lawn, and it was pretty enough for a bride-maid's gown. And what made me positively envious, were the black silk stockings, embroidered in pale pink with a tiny monogram, and the daintiest little vines over the instep.

The stockings, by the way, were made by the bride-to-be herself, I don't mean the stockings, but the embroidery on them, so they really are something that we can all have in our wardrobe, if we are willing to put the work upon them.

JACK LONDON'S SEPARATION.

Since the separation has occurred in the London family, I hear that Jack London is established in most attractive bachelor quarters on Telegraph avenue. I hear that he is a housekeeper and is prepared to entertain. But one bears many thin which are built on rather slim foundations.

SOME NEW-HOMES IN OAKLAND.

"There is a wonderful amount of building going on about Oakland, and despite it, there seems to be no houses to rent. They are all for sale, and nine out of ten of them are a disfigurement to the city. Oakland has always been a city of homes, and it seems a pity that it should become a place of mere dwelling places.

These rows of varicolored boxes, with a strip of cement wall and a square yard or so of lawn to do duty as a garden, give the impression that land is as scarce as though we lived in the business portion of a large city.

If the owners of the few tracts of land, about to be put up in the market, would sell only lots above a certain size, so as to insure a good-sized garden, and allow no houses to be erected on them, costing less than a certain sum, we might combine the beautifying of the city with its growth.

THEY WERE AT BLITHEDALE.

I hear that Mr. and Mrs. William Gardner Cook spent a part of the summer months at Blithedale. They are home again, now, however, and are settled in their cozy little home on Howe street. I believe that they are planning to build, but that they tried renting for a time, so that they would be better able to judge what they really wanted.

SHE GAVE A LITTLE TEA.

On Thursday afternoon, Miss George Strong gave a charming little tea for Miss Eva Knight. It was a very jolly affair, and the callers, for the most part, were intimate friends of Miss Knight's. The decorations carried out no special color scheme, although pink predominated.

WILL GO BACK TO JOHANNESBURG.

I hear that Mr. Will Helm's visit is nearly over, and that in the very near future he will leave for London, en route for Johannesburg. We have seen very little of him so lately while he has been here, for I believe there were many business affairs to take up his time. He has been very successful in his South Africa mining ventures, so I have heard, and it would be impossible for him to give up his work there at the present time.

MRS. BELDEN MAKES A VISIT.

Mrs. Dan Belden, nee Laws, has been spending the last few days in Sacramento, visiting her mother. The Beldens' new home is receiving its finishing touches, and expect they will be in it long before the holidays.

THE MEDDLER.

GAVE A LUNCHEON.

SCHILLING LUNCHEON.

The luncheon and tea party given by August Schilling last Saturday in honor of Miss Ruth Kales, who leaves next week for the East, were very much enjoyed.

The luncheon was given in the Palace Hotel and covers were had for Miss Kales, Miss Rose Kales, Miss Arline Johnson, Miss Seville Hayden, Miss Elsa Schilling and Miss Johanna Volkmann.

WILL SOON WED.

STUDENTS TO GIVE PLAYS.

The students of the University of California are making preparations for a three days' dramatic festival, at which time they will present a Greek play, a French play and an English play. The professors of the University will act as instructors and directors.

The Greek play will be presented on September 22. It will be "The Birds," by Aristophanes, one of the most famous of Greek comedians. The rehearsals for this play have already begun.

The other plays have not yet been selected.

MILLS COLLEGE RECEPTION.

The annual reception of Mills College Friday was very much enjoyed. It is given at the beginning of each term to the new members of the school by Mrs. Mills and the seniors, and is one of the pleasant features of the year.

RED LUNCHEON.

Mrs. Percy C. Black's "red" luncheon given Friday in honor of Miss Myra Hepburn of San Francisco, was a large success. Red sweet peas and ferns were artistically arranged and the pretty home, the same cards were red hearts adorned with cupids.

CARD PARTY.

Mrs. Harry P. Carlton is planning an enjoyable card party for next Tuesday afternoon, to be given as a compliment.

Herbert Duran Gaskill, who leaves shortly for her home in Denver, Mrs. Carlton will be assisted by Mrs. Edward Collins, Mrs. Vernon Waldron, Miss Edith Gaskill and Mrs. Burr Eastwood.

EBELL LUNCHEON.

The Ebell Club's first luncheon for the fall and winter season will be given the second Tuesday in September.

MASTER PHILLIPS' PARTY.

Master Phillips Lewis has sent out some pretty invitations to a party next Saturday afternoon. Master Phillips gives a party every year, and his little friends look forward with pleasure to the occasion, as their little host has always something new and delightful entertainment for them.

INFORMAL CARD PARTY.

On next Thursday afternoon at her pretty home in Foothills, Mrs. George Hammer is to give an informal card party in honor of Mrs. Gilchrist, Miss Favor and Miss Eva Knight. This will be the first of series of card parties to be given by Mrs. Hammer.

YOUNGS DETAILED.

Owing to the illness of Miss May Young, the Youngs did not return from Honolulu this week, as was expected. They are expected to arrive at Rosecrest, however, in the near future.

MISS JOHNSON'S LUNCHEON.

Miss Arline Johnson gave a very pretty luncheon Thursday afternoon in honor of her friend, Miss Ruth Kales, with whom she is soon to leave for the East, where Miss Johnson will enter a finishing school. The guests were Miss Kales, Miss Saal, Miss Hayden, Miss Mattie Milton, Miss Rose Kales, Miss Lucretia Burnham, Miss Jean Clift, Miss Ann McElrath, Miss Marion Walsh, Miss Lillian Saltonstall, Miss Margaret Mee of San Francisco, Miss Kathleen Flanagan and Miss Johanna Volkmann.

Pretty LUNCHEON.

On Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Henry Dieckmann gave an informal luncheon at her home on Madison street, which was a most delightful affair. The pretty dining-room and table were decorated with lavender and white asters. Covers were laid for Mrs. James P. Dunn, Mrs. Alexander A. Marx, Mrs. George Doubleday, Mrs. Robert M. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Henry Drew Nichols and Miss Emma E. Mahony.

SEWING SEE.

An impromptu sewing bee was given Thursday afternoon by Miss Bessie Palmer er at her home on Jackson street. Among those present were Miss Alice Knowles, Miss Ruth Knowles, Miss Jane Crullin, Miss Edith Selby, Mrs. J. Maxwell Taft, Miss Elizabeth Huntington, Miss Marion Huntington, Miss Grace Sanborn, Miss Beatrice Vrooman and Miss Elsie Gregory.

FIRST ANNUAL PRISONER WILL GO EAST.

GIVES DETAILED INFORMATION OF WORK OF RECLAIMING ARID LANDS.

WASHINGTON, August 22.—The first annual report of the arid land reclamation service of the geological survey, made by F. H. Newell, who is in charge of it, has been completed and soon will be made public. It gives detailed information of the work to date for the establishment of a system of irrigation under the direction of the national government. It appears that work has been carried on in the different localities in the various States and Territories as follows:

On Salt and Gila rivers in Arizona, on Colorado river in California, on North Platte, Gunnison and Grand in Colorado, on Snake river in Idaho, on the deep well problems of Western Kansas, on Milk river in Montana, on the artesian well problems of Western Nebraska, on Carson and Truckee rivers in Nevada on the artesian probabilities of Central Oregon, on Bear river in Utah, on Yakima river in Washington, around Lake Desmet, and also on the Sweetwater river in Wyoming.

At each of the places where systematic work has been conducted preliminary temporary withdrawal of public lands has been made, but the areas which may be reclaimed are indicated only in a general way by those temporary segregations.

Commenting on the effect of these withdrawals, the report says:

"The impossibility of staking in advance what lands will ultimately be commanded for reclamation will result in great disappointment to many persons. The fact that the lands have been temporarily set aside is, in the eyes of many, an indication that these lands will be reclaimed, and although every attempt has been made to warn individuals of the futility of filling upon these lands under the homestead law, they persist in taking up the lands on the bare possibility that the surveys and recommendations will ultimately show it to be reclaimable. It is an unfortunate condition, which apparently cannot be corrected at present."

ALLEGED MURDERER CAPTURED TODAY.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., August 22.—A special from Mount Pulaski to the Bulletin says that Constable Cassaway today captured near there Frank Smith, who is wanted near Lexington, Ky., for the alleged murder of a United States revenue officer and who is also charged with murderously assaulting another officer, so that death almost resulted.

EASTERN WEATHER.

CHICAGO, August 22.—Temperatures at 7 a.m.—New York, Washington, 66; Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, Minneapolis and St. Louis, 65.

NEW PARIS HAT.

The hat itself is of plaited tulle over the wire frame, with lace laid over the wide brim and low crown. The lace is bent close down on the hair, the front standing straight out over a bandage. The trimming consists of two garlands of blue velvet forget-me-nots, and two French tied bows of black velvet ribbon, long ends falling over the back.

SERMONS BY THE BERKELEY PASTORS.

BERKELEY, August 22.—Now that the summer vacation is over and the schools and University have opened, regular services have been established at the churches.

Among the topics announced for sermon are the following:

First Congregational—Rev. G. W. Frizzell of Eau Claire, Wisconsin, will preach in the morning on "The Old and the New" and in the evening on "The Making of a Man."

Trinity Methodist—The pastor, Rev. C. K. Jenness, will preach in the morning on "Confidence." In the evening a Bible study class will be held.

Christian Church—Rev. E. W. Darst, the pastor, will speak on "The Lord's Day" in the morning, while Rev. T. C. Macfarlane of Alameda will occupy the pulpit in the evening.

First Unitarian—Rev. Hosmer will preach in the morning on "Higher Patriotism." There will be no evening service.

North Congregational—Rev. B. F. Scott, who will occupy the pulpit at the morning service, will take for his theme "Having Friends." In the evening an address upon "Missions" will be given by Rev. H. Melville Tenney.

Charles F. Fischer, his morning applier for letters of administration of the estate of Lewis J. Hubbard. The estate consists of four lots of land in Mcleod Park, valued at $500.

WARRANT FOR THE ARREST OF SABIN.

BERKELEY, April 22.—This morning a new warrant for the arrest of John I. Sabin, manager of the Pacific States Telephone & Telegraph Company, was issued by Justice of the Peace Edgar. The complaint was sworn to by W. P. Grant, a housekeeper who was found guilty of cutting the lines of the company while moving a house several weeks ago.

The complaint charges Sabin with running wires through the city at a distance far near the ground to compete with the city ordinance requiring that they shall be twenty feet above the ground.

JUSTICE EDGAR MAKES REPLY.

BERKELEY, August 22.—A few days ago the North Berkeley Improvement Club passed a resolution suggesting that Justice of the Peace Edgar heavily fine the boys caught jumping on and off the trains. In reference to this matter Judge Edgar gives the following figures: In the year 1900 there were twenty-seven arrests of boys jumping on and off trains and the fines amounted to $87. Two of the twenty-seven cases only were dismissed. During 1902, up to August 22, there have been ten arrests and only one of the ten found not guilty. The fines for this time amounted to $53.

SENATOR DINES WITH PRESIDENT.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., August 22.—Former Senator Thomas H. Carter of Montana was the only formal caller on President Roosevelt at Sagamore Hill today. He came to discuss with the President his appointments in his State, in which he is interested and also to talk over some details concerning the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, of which he is one of the commissioners. He was a guest of the President at luncheon.

MISS BUTTLAR AND VETERANS.

At the reception last night, tendered members of the G. A. R. by the Union League in San Francisco, several talented Oakland people took part, among them Miss Hilma A. Buttlar, the elocutionist. Miss Buttlar's program selection was "The Pride of Battersea." This she recited in a stirring manner and received a double encore. On the first recall she rendered "Boy Billy," and to the second she rendered "The Lone Pickett."

TO VISIT PARENTS.

ALAMEDA, August 22.—Edward Allen of 842 Cedar street went over to Larkspur yesterday for a short visit with his parents.

ENGLISHMEN ARE ALARMED.

NEWS THAT SHAMROCK MIGHT BE DISQUALIFIED CAUSED SENSATION.

LONDON, August 22.—The possibility of the disqualification of the Shamrock III, on account of overplus waterline, as the result of having been measured without her anchor and chain on board, created a mild sensation here and a full explanation of the difficulty is anxiously awaited.

The cable dispatches telling of the replacing of heavy men by light men, at the time the challenger was measured, when printed here on the day following the measurement, was taken to be a joke. That any such question had arisen is regarded as being most regrettable.

PLAYS WITH THE MINSTRELS.

WILLIAM KELLER MACK.

William Keller Mack is one of the end men in Jose's Minstrels, which play at the Macdonough Theater tonight and tomorrow evening.

ENGLISH SOLDIERS.

In his letter to the London Times on the physique of the British army, which made a very considerable stir in England, the Duke of Wellington gives some interesting statistics as to the British recruits. In 1890 the average height was 5 feet 5½ inches; weight, 124 pounds; admissions to hospital, per 1000, 65½; constantly non-effective through sickness, per 1000, 24 55; death rate, per 1000, 62½. The percentage of rejections in 1896 was 27 45; in 1901, 29 04 and in 1902, 32 22. The last figures Germany published were for 1887, and that the percentage of rejected was only 16 25, and that from the total number of conscripts, net from men who had been accepted by recruiting sergeants.

MY DIVINITY.

But yesterday sweet Agnes told me how she suffered just with cold, And begged advice just whom to see, What almighty or mere M. D.

Twice then I said, assured, quite bold, (I knew the dear girl wouldn't scold,) He who prescribes for you will be A doctor of divinity.

Dysentery Cured Without the Aid of a Doctor.

"I am just up from a hard spell of the flu (dysentery), says Mr. F. J. Johnson, well-known merchant of Birmingham, Tenn. "I used one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy and was cured without having a doctor. I consider it the best cholera medicine in the world." There is no name of employing a doctor, for this remedy is used for bowel complaint in any form, either for children or adults. It never fails and is pleasant to take. THE VERSES HE KNEW.
A student in one of the theological seminaries recently went up for examination, and it was seen that he was sadly deficient in his knowledge of the Bible. It was also seen that he could not pass, but the examiners, who wanted to show that he knew something, asked him if there was any verse in the Bible that he knew. Yes, the young man knew one. "What is it?" "Judas went out and hanged himself." "Do you know any other?" "Yes, just one." "You may repeat that one also

McDougald is Likely to be the Republican Nominee for Mayor.

HATTON'S SAN FRANCISCO LETTER

Coroner Leland May Be the Candidate of the Democratic Party.

[Special to THE TRIBUNE.]
SAN FRANCISCO, August 22.—Summing up the local situation in an introductory paragraph, it looks at this writing, as if the Republican nominee for Mayor may be City Treasurer McDougald and that the Democratic ticket may be headed by Coroner Leland.

There are all kinds of "ifs" and "ands" attached to the prevailing conditions, however, and what at the present time appears like a safe prophecy may a week from now prove to be an impossibility.

This results from the free-for-all contest that has been indulged in, that is to say, it does as far as the Republicans are concerned. It has been a long time since the organization forces have gone to a primary without some in view to act as a standard-bearer, but the best proof that the managers of the Republican League were in good faith when they declared they had no candidate is the present condition of affairs.

With the leaders all at sea as to what they had better do, it stands to reason that the rank and file are in a still greater state of confusion. It cannot prevail much longer though, for the threshing out process to which each name is being subjected is bound to soon result in something definite.

Ruef remains loyal to Schmitz, as is only to be expected. Those who are inclined to criticize him now for his efforts to foist the Mayor upon the Republican convention should remember that at no stage of the proceedings did he ever falter in his determination to secure Schmitz' renomination, if possible, and he is only carrying out, therefore, a part of his original program.

But while Ruef is anxiously endeavoring to land the prize for Schmitz, he is by no means unreasonable. He says that although he is going to do his level best in the Mayor's interests he is not going to do anything to injure the league, and that if his man is expressly declared unacceptable by the other Republican leaders he will bow to the inevitable and withdraw him from the contest. As long as Schmitz appears to have a chance, though, he intends to keep him in.

This declaration on Ruef's part will be sad news to the Kelly-Burns forces for they had been secretly hoping to see the league go to pieces through troubles in its own camp. They realized that the gravest dangers that might beset the league were harbored in the strength Ruef had brought into it, and they hoped, therefore, to hear that Ruef had determined to kick over the traces if he could not name his man.

Now, however, disappointment faces them, for Ruef's manifesto of loyalty to the league in preference to his party for an individual means that the new organization is to be welded together stronger than ever. Instead of being disrupted in any way, this being so, Kelly and Burns can say farewell to the possibility of overthrowing the league next year when the legislative fight is on, for with the present close system of organization it will be an impossibility for the antis to make a successful attack during the next twelve months at least.

THE LABOR SITUATION.

Even if Ruef finds he cannot nominate Schmitz he is by no means turned down personally; on the contrary he holds what is in many ways the key to the entire situation. The victory of Schmitz over Casey at the primaries means that the labor convention will be more or less controlled by the Mayor—it can at least be relied upon to make any moves that can be determined as in his interests.

Schmitz, therefore, practically has the say as to where the labor vote shall be placed officially. He can either run himself as a labor candidate for Mayor or he can give or deny the labor endorsement to the Republican or Democratic nominee. In many ways he holds the balance of power and with Ruef as his advisor he can be relied upon to turn the scale in a direction best for his own interests.

No wonder, therefore, that the Republican leaders have good occasion to feel pleased over the present conditions. Schmitz will undoubtedly be with them for the fact that he is seeking their party nomination shows where he stands politically and as Ruef will advise him not to be a "sovereign" if he is turned down he will doubtless make the moves that seem best to Republican interests.

Of course, if Schmitz could see his way clear to being elected by a straight Labor vote, he would go at it upon those lines, but he knows right well that the union strength in itself cannot elect anyone and is only of value in turning the tide for the regular parties. Just what concessions he would want from the Republicans for the labor organization is unknown, but he would assuredly meet with a prompt response upon that score, for the Republicans have always been anxious to ally the wage-earners with their party—where they properly belong.

Until it is determined more clearly what Schmitz' political fate is to be, there will probably not be much headway among the Republican possibilities, for so much depends upon the moves to be made in the union camp. City Treasurer McDougald's boom has advanced, though, of late, for the reason that if the plans include securing the labor endorsement for the Republican nominee he would be thoroughly acceptable to the tollers on account of being a working-man himself. As for the Republican end of it, his friends are pointing out that his party standing is unquestioned, while the responsibilities of his present position as City Treasurer convey assurance enough that he is safe and conservative from a business point of view.

An attempt has been made again of late to induce Speaker Fisk to get into the fight, but he positively declines despite the tempting picture that is now being painted. Those who want him to head the ticket say that the indications now are very pronounced that Lane will not be the Democratic nominee, while they point out that with the opportunities created by Schmitz' position the prospects of success are very good.

To those who are in constant touch with local sentiment it is plainly apparent that the Republican end of it is very much on the upgrade. The astonishing vote cast in some of the districts at the primaries indicates that the people are prepared to administer a rebuke to the Labor forces and that if the right kind of Republican is brought out, he will receive a huge vote, irrespective of party. For this reason, many favor abandoning the labor feature altogether, and putting up a strong business man, who commands the respect of the community—a man, for instance, possessed of the kind of personal strength Phelan had in his earlier campaigns. This argument is being advanced in opposition to the plan to nominate McDougald, but although he has much merit, the majority appears to think that if possible, the nominee should appeal to both elements and not be arrayed against the thousands of voters the Unionists unquestionably possess.

THE DEMOCRATS.

And now as to Lane and the Democrats. Those who understand the situation here appreciate that the Lane strength has received a set-back and that in consequence he will not jeopardize his entire political future by becoming a candidate for Mayor.

Had the Casby faction in the Labor party won Lane would have been in clover, for through that element Livermore thought to bring Lane into close touch with the Hearst Democracy. Casby would most assuredly have done all in his power to help Lane, and there would probably have been a trading of strength between the McNab and Casey forces that would have resulted in a combination ticket being made up on the lines of the old-time fusion operations of the Democrats and Populists.

Now, however, all those hopes are knocked on the head, and on the other hand it is almost certain that the Labor party will be influenced to far as possible in the Republican cause. This being so, Lane could not hope to secure the Labor vote he was given at the time he ran against Pardoe. Upon that occasion he was regarded by the Unionists as their representative, and although many of them would doubtless continue to feel that way, there is no doubt that much of his anticipated strength would be drained away by the moves to be made by Populists.

McNab is fully alive to this condition of affairs, and as he regards Lane as the man who will some day place his wing of the Democracy in control of the State administration he does not want to take any chances of sacrificing him. It is indeed believed by many that the astute Democratic chieftain never really entertained the idea of having Lane run for Mayor, but merely used his name as a capital at the primaries. If this is so he handed his ammunition with good effect, for there is no doubt that the personal appeal for Lane carried enough delegates to give McNab control of the situation.

Although the "Horses-and-Carts," as the O'Brien wing is called, is on the face of things woefully in the minority, hope has by no means been abandoned in that camp, and considerable work is being done with the hope of getting enough of the McNab delegates away from him to control the convention. However, McNab is probably taking good care of himself in that regard, and unless something startling happens will practically be able to dictate who shall lead the ticket just as he did at Sacramento last year when he nominated Lane for Governor.

While he would doubtless like to try to land Lane in the Mayor's chair this fall, still, as it begins to look likely, those who are watching his moves are inclined to believe that he is figuring elsewhere. It is his well-known liking for Coroner Leland that has created the impression that he may direct the nomination to him, and that Leland would jump at the opportunity goes without saying.

Outside of Lane the strongest man in the McNab camp is Washington Dodge, and in many ways he would be a dangerous man for the Republicans to combat if he were given first place on the Democratic ticket. Dodge, however, is well satisfied with his present position as Assessor, and is making all his plans to run again for that office. He has a reasonably sure thing of landing there for another term, whereas the Mayoralty is fraught with so many possibilities for defeat that he does not want to run the chances he would have to encounter there.

Altogether, therefore, it can be seen that the approaching municipal contest here is just getting into a highly interesting condition, and those who are inclined to speculate upon the outcome of such events will soon have plenty of opportunities to test their skill at making or losing money.

THE APPELLATE COURT.

Lawyers, as well as politicians, are keeping a watchful eye upon the prospects of the constitutional amendment creating courts of appeal, and it seems certain that a vigorous campaign will be waged in its behalf between now and the time for voting on it next year.

As an amendment of this description has already suffered defeat at the polls during the past five years, it is patent that to carry this one a great deal of vigorous work must be done. A plan of campaign has been roughly mapped out already, and it is proposed to center all operations on the Bar Associations of San Francisco and Los Angeles. Through these associations the crusade will be directed at every attorney in the State, and the members of the bar will be called upon to make the issue personal, and to do all possible to create the desired sentiment in the various localities.

Realizing that the fate of the amendment will, to a considerable degree, hinge upon the work done by the newspapers, a hot fire is to be directed in that quarter, and it is hoped that as a result the subject will be thoroughly threshed out so that the voters can comprehend the exigencies of the situation. With this accomplished it is believed that the success of the amendment will be assured.

WHAT IS PROPOSED.

Under the measure the State is divided into three appellate districts, each containing a district court consisting of three justices. The districts are allotted as follows:

First: San Francisco, Marin, Contra Costa, Alameda, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Fresno, Santa Cruz, Monterey, San Benito.

Second: Tulare, Kings, San Luis Obispo, Kern, Inyo, Santa Barbara, Ventura, Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Orange, Riverside, San Diego.

Third: Del Norte, Siskiyou, Modoc.

State will undoubtedly reach out wherever they think they can command the necessary influence for the Gubernatorial appointees will, by reason of two years' service, be in a much stronger position to seek the nominations when election time gets around than outside applicants. In addition to the increased prestige and the advance of salary the tenure of office is greater, for twelve year terms are insured by the amendment. Those successful in the first election though are to be classified by lot in each district, so that one shall go out of office at the end of four years, one after eight years and the third after twelve years.

Then there must be considered all the patronage involved in the working machinery of the three courts, so viewing the proposition as a whole it can be seen what a basketful of choice plums it places before Governor Pardoe to dispense if the measure goes through.

HERE AND THERE.

Governor Pardoe passed a few hours at the Union League Club during the week.

Frank Devilin of Vallejo was among the week's visitors. He is prominently mentioned as a candidate to succeed Senator Leibshinger in the Napa-Solano district.

Postmaster S. N. Andrews of Sonoma was in town making the rounds among his old-time friends.

As he served a term in the State Senate and later was president of the Jockey Club, his acquaintances hereabouts are legion.

Immigration Inspector Snyder of San Francisco is up with the Grand Army men.

Ex-Ambassador H. G. W. Dinkelspiel is back from his trip to the East. As he was on the winning side in the Forty-first District his friends are urging him to be a candidate for State Senator next year.

Judge Sargent of Monterey county is in town.

Assemblyman G. S. Walker of Los Gatos has been passing the week here with his father, who is a prominent figure in the city.

Ex-Railroad Commissioner E. B. Eaton is among the "boys in blue" who are taking in the Encampment.

Captain A. S. Miller is in town with the veterans. The captain served in the legislature from Riverside a few years ago.

United States Judge Estee of Hawaii will return to the Islands in a couple of weeks. The judge was stricken with dengue fever about a month ago, and came here so that he could recuperate instead of having to endure the summer strain of a tropical climate.

HATTON.

the postal service of all railway employees and the department has received a number of protests.

Second Postmaster-General Shallenberger states the position of the department as follows:

"The Postal laws and regulations already provide that every regularly scheduled train may be used for mail purpose if the company is willing to accept the compensation provided by law. All the department has in contemplation is to facilitate, if possible, the prompt delivery of newspapers, packages marked for outside delivery."

THANKS THE PRESIDENT.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., August 22.—The Citizens' Alliance, composed of business men and others, has sent to President Roosevelt a letter thanking him for his action in restoring to his position the bookbinder in the Government Printing Office, who had been discharged by the Public Printer because of his expulsion from a trade union.

WASHINGTON, August 22.—The decision of the Postoffice Department to allow bagagemasters to act as custodians of loose newspaper mail on certain trains, has been misconstrued in some places as an intention to permit the indiscriminate swearing into union.

JEWS WILL HOLD MEETING.

LEADERS WILL TAKE PART IN THE SESSION TOMORROW AT BASILE.

It was originally intended to sell for several million dollars.

Amory's wonderful wall paper was made up of intrinsically worthless bonds of a coal and iron company of Kentucky. Their owner was before the public last March and April when he made public charges of fraud against the Metropolitan Street Railway Company and sued H. H. Later they were used to decorate the walls of a room in his house.

On his testimony at the hearing, Amory asserted that he was offered 200,000 cash a short time previously by a man, who he alleged, was trying to bribe him because the would-be purchaser knew the paper was worthless. Later they were used to decorate the walls of a room in his house.

CARLISLE BUYS NEW HOUSE.

NEW YORK, August 22.—William N. Amory, formerly secretary of the Third Avenue Railroad Company, has sold his house in East Sixty-second street. Along with the house he disposed of wall paper which probably is like no other in this country, because it was originally intended to sell for several million dollars.

BERKELEY AND THE STATE UNIVERSITY

UNIVERSITY MEN MAY BE TOLD TO LEAVE COLLEGE

Students Affairs Committee Has Evidence Against Sophomores Who Drenched the Freshmen.

Berkeley, Aug. 22.—With the knowledge that the Students' Affairs Committee has a list of the Sophomores who broke faculty rules by interfering with the organization of the Freshman class, the student body of the University is looking for a number of expulsions. The belief that dismissals will result from yesterday's "rough house" in the gymnasium when the invading Freshmen turned a fire hose one the first year men and Juniors is based on the fact that the Students' Affairs Committee will act on its old code of rules.

Some of the leading members of the under-graduate body have vainly endeavored to secure a revision of the definite statement in regard to the hazing that is annually practiced on the "baby" class. Two prominent college men, W. A. S. Woods, and A. Saeltzer are still out of college on enforced disciplining for hazing, while Robert Rose of San Francisco has just been admitted to college again after a long absence administered for the same offense.

President Wheeler is no-committal as to what will be done with the bold Sophs, and in the meantime the college town is looking for a shake-up in the second-year class.

ENTERTAINS THE MAINE DELEGATION.

Berkeley, Aug. 22.—A pleasing feature of the reception to the members of the G. A. R. in this city yesterday was the entertainment of the entire State of Maine delegation by W. H. Whipple at his residence, 200 Delaware street.

FOOTBALL COACH WILL SOON RETURN.

Berkeley, Aug. 22.—After a three months' stay in Alaska, Mr. and Mrs. James Whipple will return on one of next week's steamers. Mr. Whipple has been engaged in surveying and engineering work for the Eagle river mines, near Juneau, of which his brother-in-law, Bart Thane, is superintendent.

Both Whipple and Thane were preparing for the deduction.

HAYWARDS, SAN LEANDRO, EMERYVILLE, FRUITVALE, GOLDEN GATE

WILL SPEAK ON CARRIED MANY SALOONS.

REV. HILL OF GOLDEN GATE HAS TOPIC OF VITAL INTEREST.

GOLDEN GATE, Aug. 22.—Rev. E. M. Hill has chosen for his theme Sunday evening, "The Relation of the Church to a Clean Town," and, in view of the war of words recently aroused by the public criticism of one of the local saloons, it is safe to say that the Methodist church will be crowded tomorrow evening. Some reflections on the present fight for decency in this section will also be presented in the course of Dr. Hill's address.

"In the morning he will preach on 'The Menace of My Lord.' This will be the last time at a meeting service for this conference than that Dr. Hill will preach in his church as the Presiding Elder will occupy the pulpit August 30.

VISITED BY 'VEES.'

T. C. Landgrave entertained several of his G. A. R. friends yesterday afternoon. Interesting recollections of their old fighting days were renewed.

MRS. O'ROURKE OUT.

Mr. O'Rourke of Sixty-second street is able to be out again after a week's illness.

MISS GRUBBS RETURNS.

Miss Ethel Grubbs has returned to her home in Golden Gate after a few days spent across the bay with friends.

ARE BEING ENTERTAINED.

Mrs. Jeanette Howell of Fifty-sixth street is entertaining about a dozen young friends this afternoon in honor of her thirteenth birthday.

KING'S DAUGHTERS MEET.

The executive committee of the King's Daughters met at Mrs. Chardbourne's residence Thursday. Regular routine work was transacted.

ISSUES A BULLETIN ON ANALYSIS OF SOILS.

Berkeley, Aug. 21.—That well-known authority on agricultural subjects, Professor Eugene W. Hilgard, has issued a bulletin on "Methods of Physical and Chemical Soil Analysis," a subject he has made a careful study of. Contained in the circular is information of direct practical importance and a reliable guide to the settler in the choice of lands.

SENIORS HONOR YOUNG WOMAN WITH PRESIDENCY.

Berkeley, Aug. 22.—Following out the time-honored custom of electing a young woman to the presidency of the first term of the senior class, Miss Mary McClure has been honored by her classmates at the Berkeley High School. The other officers elected are: Vice-president, Ed Lane; secretary, Bourdon Holden; treasurer, Fletcher Monson; sergeant-at-arms, Loring Hall.

WORK TO MAKE FAIR A SUCCESS.

GAMES AHEAD FOR ELEVEN.

COACH JAMES WHIPPLE WILL CALL OUT THE FOOTBALL MEN.

BERKELEY, Aug. 22.—With the machinery of the University in regular motion again, after the long summer vacation, active preparations are being made to open the football season at the conclusion of next week. Already several games have been arranged, and, under the coaching of James Whipple, who will lead the squad again this year, first and second elevens will be rapidly moulded into shape.

Berkeley will play the University of Oregon on either October 31 or November 1.

With the loss of only Sherman and Starr, and the retention among others of the mighty Overall, California starts the season under unusually favorable conditions. With the exception of the inter-collegiate championship, all games will be played on the college gridiron.

PERSONALS AND NEWS NOTES

ABOUT BERKELEYANS

BERKELEY, Aug. 22.—Jean Brock of the First National Bank, has returned from his vacation, which was spent at Independence Lake.

C. Harder of San Pablo avenue and Holyoke street is convalescing from a severe illness.

Miss Clara Abbott is the guest of her cousin, Mrs. N. J. Abbott. She will attend the Berkeley public commercial school.

Herbert Baldwin, son of Captain W. H. Baldwin of 2640 Dwight Way, has returned from a cruise to the Philippines.

E. J. Mann has sold his present residence at the corner of Harry and Cedar streets to Postmaster George Schmidt.

Rev. George B. Smythe has gone to visit conferences of the Methodist Church in California, Washington and Idaho.

John Simonds, a prominent businessman of San Francisco, was stricken with paralysis while attending the G. A. R. festivities, and is now in a critical condition at his home, 2434 College avenue.

WILL GIVE A RECEPTION TO THE FRESHMEN.

BERKELEY, Aug. 22.—At a formal reception at Hearst Hall, the entire Freshman class of the University will be the guests of President and Mrs. Wheeler this evening. The affair which is given annually, affords the young people of the first year an opportunity to become acquainted.

WILL GIVE A RECEPTION TO THE FRESHMEN.

UNIVERSITY MEN HOLD REUNION.

BERKELEY, Aug. 22.—A number of California men who are teaching English in the Government schools of Japan, held a reunion dinner at Arima during the last week of July. Those present were Galen M. Fisher, Harold Davis.

VETERANS VISIT HAYWARDS.

THEY ARE SHOWN THE BEAUTIES OF THE "GARDEN OF EDEN."

HAYWARDS, Aug. 22.—A large number of the G. A. R. veterans visited Haywards yesterday afternoon and expressed the opinion that it was one of the prettiest places they had ever seen.

A committee of citizens headed by the trustees, James McCoy and R. Reid, went to Oakland in the morning and escorted the old soldiers out to the town on special electric cars. Many hundreds of others also came out on the regular cars. On their arrival here carriages were waiting to take the visitors through the neighboring country. The guests were given samples of delicious fruits, and shown some of the finest orchards in the State.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Services will be conducted by the pastor in the Congregational Church on Sunday. Morning subjects, "Dual-Mindedness," evening subject, "Instability." All are cordially invited.

At the Presbyterian Church to-morrow morning the elders will report on the success of their visit to Pastor Lyons with a view of inducing him to remain in Haywards. His salary has been raised $300 by subscription. Chancellor Scott of the University of 2420, who was chosen to complain of the G. A. R. will speak in the Presbyterian Church. # HOME COMFORTS AND DAINTY EDIBLES

CERTAIN TO BE APPRECIATED.

A French woman has obtained a considerable clientele in New York by going out to do emergency cooking. If company arrives for two or three days' stay in a family where only one maid is kept, this woman proves a veritable godsend to the hostess by taking skilled control of the kitchen during the visit. She is distinct from the caterer's staff, which presupposes elaborate entertaining, and she does not compete with the lady "managers," who take charge of a kitchen through a luncheon or dinner, planning the menu, ordering food and directing the servants. She is, in reality, a thoroughly good cook, who may be relied upon to send in the three meals of the day in appetizing fashion, relieving the mistress of all responsibility of the kitchen, and giving the other girl a chance to elaborate her duties as waitress and parlor maid. She has proved specially popular with housekeepers living in apartments whose accommodations for resident maids are limited. These chaperones avail themselves so often of her services in domestic crises of one sort and another that she is in constant demand.

DINING ROOM FURNITURE.
Color effect makes the quickest appeal to our interest in any room, and particularly in the dining-room. Just how this should be carried out cannot be shown except in a very general way, as conditions impose so many restrictions and limitations. It is a quiet background we desire, the walls, woodwork, floor covering and curtains should all be of subdued tones and patterns that are scarcely perceptible. If a bright, cheerful interior is preferred, strong colors and definite designs should be chosen.

When furniture is to be bought for the dining room, the plain oak (sometimes called "mission" style) in the various light or dark stains, may be found to be more attractive than the ordinary golden or antique oak, and tables without carved work, rush-seated chairs and china closets with latticed panes will make a more artistic room than the ornate patterns and showy effects that cost the same amount of money.

A floor that can be partly covered with a rug is the most fitting treatment for the dining room. If the boards cannot be finished with a stain and shellac, a border may be painted outside of the rug, using a color that harmonizes with the woodwork. A good substitute for a rug is the carpet that is manufactured in nine and twelve feet widths in English velvets, cutting it the length desired. Scotch reversible rugs are also excellent for color effect and durability. Grass matting in wide widths makes a cool rug for the summer dining room.

The lighting of the dining room can be made a pleasing feature, or, on the contrary, a most distressing one. The glow of a famous beauty, so the story goes, in her endeavor to show the latter to an advantage, invited her to a magnificent dinner party, and then placed her near some bright green candle shades.

To sit facing a glare of sunlight will spoil the most enjoyable meal, and a table poorly lighted will bring equal discomfort. Just the right amount of light can be arranged after a little experimenting with curtains, gas or electric shades, and all windows should have practical means for shifting the curtains during the day, according to the need for more or less light.

FOR TABLE DECORATIONS.
Flowers which naturally mass low are more suitable for table decoration than those whose beauty must be sacrificed in the cutting of long stems. Violets are among the former. An edge of delicate ferns, preferably maiden hair, makes the most exquisite setting for the dainty violet. A calla lily mixed with French violets is a pretty thing to lay at each plate at a formal affair. Lemons cut in halves lengthways and the pulp replaced with candied violets are enticing favors, and place cards laid with violet ribbon and having a violet stickpin run through as a souvenir are always appreciated by women. Sweet peas are more graceful in bowl than a tall vase, so they form a very tasty centerpiece for a dining-table. Their dainty shades and mild perfume blends with the surroundings. Nasturtiums are particularly adapted to the dining room. Their bright colors should surely cheer any gloomy or sad person and their spicy fragrance should act as a tonic to both appetite and spirits on a hot day.

RAISIN ICE CREAM.

Take half a pound seedless raisins and boil them gently for fifteen minutes in a pint of milk with a small cube of cream. Blend one-fourth pound of almonds to a fine powder in a mortar with a few drops of rose water. Slice thin two ounces each of preserved ginger and citron. Beat the yolks of four eggs to a cream with one-half pound sugar. Stir in the raisins, and cinnamon from the milk, which can afterward be used in a pudding, return the milk to the fire and stir while the eggs and sugar are being added to it and begin to thicken, then remove, and when cold add the other ingredients with a quart of sweetened cream. Freeze in the usual way. Each serving may be sprinkled with finely chopped nuts.

TOMATO SALAD.

A tomato salad served in Paris was a variation of stuffed tomato having lobster meat as a filling. The live lobster is boiled in water to which are added a gill of vinegar, one onion sliced, a little parsley, two or three cloves, and a bay leaf. The cooked meat is cut into dice mixed with two tablespooms of sliced pickled cucumbers and a few string beans cooked and cut in small pieces. Firm, not too ripe, tomatoes are selected, the tops sliced off, and the center scooped out. Fill the tomatoes with chipped ice while the salad is being prepared. When ready to eat, together, dress the lobster meat, pickles, and beans with mayonnaise, fill tomato shells, topping each with a little mayonnaise in which is arranged a lobster claw. Reserve a few string beans whole, which may be dressed with a French dressing and used as a garnish around the tomatoes. Cold chicken or ham may be used instead of lobster.

CLEANING WATER BOTTLES.

For cleansing the inside of our glass water bottles or other narrow-necked vessels a weak solution of hydrochloric acid is better than shot or sand, as these make irreparable scratches on the surface of the glass, even though destroying much of its brilliant quality. Care must be taken to rinse the vessels thoroughly after using the acid. A manufacturer of cut glass advises that before using ice cream, platters, punch bowls, sorbet glasses or other pieces designed for frozen foods or chilled beverages, the glass should be allowed to stand for a few minutes in a cold place or held under a jet of cold water.

RAISIN ICE CREAM.

Take half a pound seedless raisins and boil them gently for fifteen minutes in a pint of milk with a small cube of cream. "Is that so?" said he, rising and leaning on the mantel. "Well, all I can say is that most married women are bad actresses, at least so far as their husbands are concerned."

"No, my dear," she murmured, softly, "it isn't the fault of the acting. Look at the poor audiences most of them have."

And Mr. Seldom home went out on the back porch and kicked the family cat all the way across the yard.

WHOSE FAULT?

"Do you know," said Mrs. Homebody, as she jammed the darning egg into the corner of a perforated sock, "I believe women, all women, have to be born actresses?"

"Now, why?" reported Mr. Seldom home, as he shifted his glance from the market page to the baseball scores, "why do you say that?"

"Because," she replied, softly, "they have to act to let their husbands think they are happy."

PEOPLE AND THINGS OF NOTE

ABOUT LADY MACKENZIE.

Lady Constance Mackenzie, second daughter of the Earl of Cromartie, is engaged to marry Captain Fitzgerald of the Eleventh Hussars.

Lady Constance is the champion swimmer of England. Her favorite swimming costume is of a bright green material, trimmed with her own colors. She tried for the gold championship of the United Kingdom, and was only narrowly defeated. She has a farm and many pets, including boa constrictors. She is very rich and a large land owner. Captain Fitzgerald has seen service in India and South Africa, and is an ideal husband for such a clever and romantic young woman.

In New York last year Lady Constance Mackenzie visited Mrs. Charles S. Dodge, of No. 158 East Thirty-seventh street.

While here she walked ten miles every day before breakfast, besides brisk canter on horseback. Society stood aghast at her energy. After breakfast she fenced for an hour; then she mimicked the bag and pulled chest weights for an hour; then she had a sub-drown and went to luncheon at the Waldorf, always walking.

She danced every night she was here the winter before last. At a "Whitney" musical she performed a Highland sword dance, using two walking sticks.

She went to Florida to kill an alligator and did it.

FROM CHURCH TO STAGE.

From religious activity to the life of the stage is a long step, but it has been successfully taken by two members of the Storrs family of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Massachusetts, the family that gave the world Richard Salter Storrs, pulpit orator, member of the American Board of Foreign Missions and vice-president of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences. A year ago David Proctor, a nephew of the celebrated divine, became an actor and this summer Miss Elizabeth Valentine, his niece, entered the field of the Shakespearean drama.

Both young people illustrate the tendency of all cultured young men and women toward the stage. Proctor is a graduate of Columbia, while Miss Valentine claims Cornell as her alma mater. Graduated in the class of 1902, Miss Valentine was known at Ithaca for her excellence as a dramatic reader and frequently appeared in the college plays. She enacted Katherine in a highly successful production of "Taming of the Shrew," besides which she has leading parts in such plays as "The Private Secretary," "Maid Marian" and "The Man of Destiny."

Miss Valentine's dramatic penchant dates from the time when, as a slip of a girl, she was taken by her parents to see Sir Henry Irving and Miss Ellen Terry in "The Merchant of Venice."

Irving and Terry had been the recipients of many social favors in Brooklyn, and had proffered several of their friends the use of a box. It had been arranged that one of the gentlemen of the party should thus Miss Terry a magnificent bouquet of flowers at the close of her recitation of the lines:

"The quality of mercy is not strained; it droppeth as the gentle rain from heaven."

Little Elizabeth sat eye and ear intent through the recitation. At the critical moment she seized the bouquet and, remarking excitedly, "I'll fro the flowers, please," launched them at Miss Terry's feet. A titter swept over the audience at the audible remark.

Miss Terry, not embarrassed for an instant, graciously accepted the bouquet and smilingly said, "I accept the gift of the childlike eager face turned toward me. Afterward she requested that the child be brought to her behind the scenes, and, hearing her recite Robert Louis Stevenson's naives and exquisite child verses, expressed the opinion that this little girl would one day make an actress.

Although Miss Valentine's ambitions are chiefly Shakespearean, she is being seriously considered by George H. Brenner for the important part of Regina in the Alberta Gallatin production of "Ghosts." After a year of acting in the United States the young woman

Why should she not successfully settle in some of the classical productions made there? Tall and graceful in person, with expressive eyes and Titan hair, with a certain maiden wistfulness of feature, she seems peculiarly fitted for the stage.

—New York Tribune.

A POTENTIAL ELEMENT.

Feminine influence and ability, heretofore a recognized and potential element in inciting and prolonging strikes, should prove no less effective and far more beneficial when exerted in a contrary direction. An opportunity of this sort is afforded in an appeal of striking cutter girls in the Holyoke paper mills at Springfield, Mass., to Miss Helen Gould, asking her to act as arbitrator in the dispute.

If there be any real grounds of controversy, such an original method of settlement ought to be welcomed by all parties concerned. Making way for the ladies, not as promoters of strife, but as evangels of the industrial gospel of conciliation and compromise. We have seen that the Mother Joneses can do in stirring up controversies; now let us see the outcome of a more exalted womanly power exerted at the other end of the line.

Miss Helen Gould's position in the American social system's unique, enviable and commanding. She is a type of true philanthropy, a business woman by instinct and hetedity the idol and ideal of the American working women.

Why should she not successfully settle in some of the classical productions of the Springfield strike; or, if necessary, acceptably as arbitrator, and thus demonstrate the value of woman methods in a field where intuition and sympathy are so closely interwoven with the mathematics of commerce and trade?

A COLONIAL RELIC.

In one of the corridor rooms of the new wing of the Metropolitan Museum of Art there is a wooden clothes chest that is believed to have been the receptacle for the royal garments of King James I.

It is the property of Mrs. Caroline Foote March of Virginia, and has been in this country since 1861, when it was brought here by that little band of loyal cavaliers who fled from England at the time Charles I was beheaded, and who found welcome sanctuary in the mansion of Governor Berkeley at Green Springs manor, near Jamestown Island.

This clothes chest, which is probably the most valuable colonial relic in America, is made of olive wood, and its extreme age is authenticated by any number of external evidences. On the front of the box, for example, there may be noticed two carved lions, tails so long they form a double loop. These are the same as are over the entrance of Hampton Court, and after the reign of Henry VIII, when the chest was brought here by a Frenchman who had been a prisoner of war, it was never used for any decoration or embellishment. There is also a lion's head in the middle of the box, which is made bear mute witness to the fact that the wood itself was cut hundreds of years ago, for these planks are two inches thick and eight inches wide, and it has been several hundred years since any olive tree grew large enough to cut such a plank from.

It is known that the chest was brought to this country by Elizabeth Darnley and Mary Stuart, who fled to Williamsburg in the colony of Virginia, where Elizabeth Stuart was married to Dr. Griffin of that town. Even to this day the story tellers of Williamsburg repeat narratives handed down from the colonial forbears, who saw the regal robes of silk and satin that were kept in the clothes chest for many years after it was brought to Virginia.

—New York Tribune.

It by one of those happy flukes that now and again delight the soul of the eagle hunter. The chest was owned by a Virginian named Bulliphant, whose first wife was a Mary Stuart, the last of the Virginia family of that name. Bulliphant lived at "Mount Pleasant," which is the site of Castle John Smith's original American home, "Smith's Mount." The old chest had been stored in the wine cellar during the Civil War, and when Bulliphant decided to hold a "vendu" and dispose of all his household goods he invited Mrs. March to come up and look over his things, but this she purposely refrained from doing. The day after the sale a neighbor informed her that a "lovely big chest" had been sold at Bulliphant's "vendu" for twenty-five dollars, the buyer announcing that he intended to use it for a feed box. Mrs. March couldn't resist this description and started at once to the Bulliphant farm, then occupied by a German gateman, to see if she could buy the chest.

On arriving at the place she found that the boy had been resold for fifty dollars to a German, who wanted it for a tool box. The German was down in a deep cistern when Mrs. March found him. She called down to him that she wanted to buy the chest. He mentioned a price and Mrs. March dropped the money into the cistern to him.

The Kensington museum authorities have been anxious to purchase the chest, and it is exhibited in the Metropolitan Museum of Art at the personal request of Henry L. Marquand.

JUST TO PLEASE AND INTEREST WOMEN

WHY WOMEN SELDOM TIP.

Included among the minor sins that women are said to be guilty of is that of dislike to tipping the waiter at restaurant and hotel according to the Springfield Republican. It must be conceded that the accusation is well founded. Her neglect to tip is not, however, founded so much or meanest, though that is said to be the real reason, as on ignorance. Many women do not think of it, or if they do, they consider that unless the waiter pays them personal services, such as helping them on and off with their wraps, they owe him nothing. And if affairs were managed as they should be, this course of reasoning would be quite correct, for the waiter should be well paid, and so not dependent on tips. Another thing, the woman who goes into a restaurant for lunch—and there are more that get that meal than any other—and orders, say, some rolls and coffee, or simply a salad, and pays her quarter—feels it a hardship that she should be expected to pay a dime as a tip; if she had a course dinner it would have left her in a very different frame of mind. She would have recognized the fact that in being served a dinner she had had a considerable portion of the waiter's time, and added to his fatigue. Then again, it is a rooted belief in some women's minds that when there are men in a group who order a meal the tip is expected, otherwise not.

But indeed, to come back again to the first and real controlling reason why women are not given to tipping, it is nine times out of ten pure ignorance that waiters are not paid properly and that employers reckon up for their own deficiency. That this is due to the procedure of the business woman. An employer who makes her see that she pays her tip as matter of course, because she knows it is necessary, that the waiter's living largely depends on this tax—imposed always by the employer. She probably mentally objects, as the business woman does, but she makes no question of the necessity laid upon her.

Another phase of the tipping question, common enough in all foreign countries, but comparatively new in this, is that of tipping the servants in the house where one visits. Americans, while traveling, have always pronounced this a nuisance, and now it is said that where it is practiced here, Black cats are liked as mascots, and have entered the lists with the four-leaved clovers and little pine pins for stickpins. They are made of plain silver or gold with possibly jeweled eyes, or set solid with diamonds.

WHAT THE THEATERS OFFER IN TWO CITIES.

Minstrels and Stevens at Macdonough—
Excellent Bills at Idora and the Novelty.

Idora Park is still at the head as the most popular and pleasing amusement resort in Oakland. The performances are refined and first class, and under the able management of George McKinnon, Idora Park is at the full height of its prosperity. For the week of August 24, a number of unusual stars will delight the visitors.

Coleman and Lexis, trick rifle and pistol experts, will head the list. These artists have appeared in all parts of the world and have played before the crowned heads of England, Germany and Italy. They have the reputation of being the greatest show on earth and their work is strictly up-to-date and in keeping with their splendid reputation.

George Orndorf, who comes from the concert platform, will make her debut on the vaudeville stage. She is the fortunate possessor of a deep and rich contralto voice, which has won for her much meritorious praise. She is the wife of Harry Orndorf, the well known Orpheum stage manager.

Ingles and Jackson, sister team, direct from the East, will make a bid for popular favor. Their work is new and strictly up-to-date, and has won for them golden opinions from both press and public.

Doris Lansberg is a charming and clever little midget who will introduce a variety of new songs and dances. She will be a firm favorite.

Harry Sylvester, the well known baritone has been re-engaged by popular request. His illustrated songs have established him a firm favorite with Idora Park visitors and his reappearance will be hailed with delight.

Forest Seabury, the high diver, will remain for an indefinite period. His is a thrilling performance and is worth the price of admission alone.

The different concessions on the grounds are being well patronized and the attendance is increasing every week. On Friday night a new batch of amateurs will be seen. On every afternoon except Monday there is a matinee.

The admission to the theater is 10 and 20 cents. Idora Park is located on Telegraph avenue and Fifty-eighth street. Take Telegraph avenue cars.

MACDONOUGH THEATER.

There are tenors and tenors—but to Richard J. Jose belongs the title of the silver-throated tenor. Jose's wonderful voice finds space suited to his compass and his lovely notes soar about among the stars in the most congenial and familiar fashion; this great boyish man with his gentle simplicity and warm love for dining and merriment, a study always, he opens his mouth and angel tones come out from it, he sounds like an irresponsible mountain accidentally made the tabernacle of wholly music. Only in Jose's kind blue eyes is there a signal of the soul, the plenteous heart for music and hint of conscientiousness of the divine gift of song. Mr. Jose brings his own company to this city numbering forty first class artists, and has left nothing undone to get together the best talent that could be had, among them are William McDonald, basso profundo of late of the Bostonians, W. H. Keeler Mack, a star of considerable magnitude in the black face and comedy roles and a host of others, all gathered together to make a first class evening's entertainment. The minstrels will be at the Macdonough Theater tonight and Sunday, August 23.

LANDERS STEVENS TO OPEN AN ENGAGEMENT.

Landers Stevens, the clever young Californian, who reigned long as a favorite with the theatre-goers of Oakland, is touring the coast with an excellent company of his own. A. G. Ging, Cooley, the popular San Francisco comedian, to whom he was introduced a few months ago, is starred as a headline attraction. The company opened last Sunday evening in San Jose, where Stevens is almost as much of a favorite as in Oakland. The attendance broke all previous records and the week's business has been thus far most encouraging.

The Landers Stevens Company will open a four weeks' engagement at the Macdonough Theater next Monday evening, August 24. The first production is "The Mountebank," in which Stevens traveled for two seasons with

(At Idora Park next week.)

Frederick Warde, in San Jose, the piece made a tremendous hit, and in this city a no less cordial reception should be accorded the return of Mr. Stevens and his company.

CROWDS CONVULSED AT FISCHER'S THEATER.

"Quo Vass Iss" and "The Big Little Princess" at Fischer's Theater have scored the expected hit. The receipts are extending far ahead of time, and the double bill could undoubtedly run indefinitely. Both plays, especially the latter, are brim full of good things, and everything is excellent. The comedians fairly convulse the crowds with laughter, and people actually go home tired of laughing. Both buffoonies are clean, full of good fun, and the scenery and costumes have never been equalled. The social stage pieces show the management have lived up to all promises. Winfield Blake continues to make a nice hit with his song, "Etiquette," so does Maude Amber with "Do Gaboboo Mau," and Eleanor Jenkins is encored every night for her excellent rendition of "There's Nobody Just Like You." Barney Bernard actually tires responding to encores for "Mrs. Pinchin's Boarding School," one of the funniest songs in "The Big Little Princess," and creates a sensation when the audience discovers him as Philosopher Hilo, his make-up of which is a remarkable study.

Kolb and Dill never were so funny as in these burlesques. Kolb, both as the strong man in "Quo Vass Iss" and stional musicians who proved their satisfaction by applauding every number heartily. They are not backward in pronouncing the affair one of the most artistic treats heard here for years. The success was so pronounced that the rush for tickets to the next concert is already beginning. The next program is an especially artistic one and considering the fact that the orchestra has two weeks for rehearsals the result will even be more satisfactory than on last Friday. The box office for the next concert, which takes place on Friday afternoon, August 28, at the Grand Opera House, will be opened on Monday morning, August 24.

NEW COMIC OPERA AT GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

The success of "To Harvard" at the Grand Opera House is so great that it will be continued till the end of next week, when the present season will terminate. Tonight will be the last night, and special features suitable to the occasion will be introduced. "In Harvard" is certainly the most delightful light musical comedy ever played in San Francisco. The cast could not be better and all the principals distinguished themselves. Special praise should be awarded to Raymond and Caverly, Cheridah Simpson, Anna Wilts, Louise Moore, Julie Cott, Winfield St. L. Gordon, Agnes Williams, Harold Crane, Rudd Ross, William Gleason, John World and Robert Warwick. Too much cannot be said for the vocal abilities of the cast, the singing of the principal singer and the latest importations of moving pictures. There are two performances every afternoon and three every evening, and at each every seat in the house is occupied and standing room is at a premium, which speaks well for the quality of the performers at Oakland's exclusive 10-cent vaudeville house.

SYMPHONY CONCERT HIGHLY COMPLIMENTED.

The verdict about the first Symphony concert under the direction of Fritz Scheel, was a universal recognition of its artistic excellence. The greatest compliment paid the master conductor was the presence of all leading professional musicians who proved their satisfaction by applauding every number heartily. They are not backward in pronouncing the affair one of the most artistic treats heard here for years. The success was so pronounced that the rush for tickets to the next concert is already beginning. The next program is an especially artistic one and considering the fact that the orchestra has two weeks for rehearsals the result will even be more satisfactory than on last Friday. The box office for the next concert, which takes place on Friday afternoon, August 28, at the Grand Opera House, will be opened on Monday morning, August 24.

FLORENCE ROBERTS COMING TO ALCAZAR.

"The Dairy Farm," to be continued one more week at the Alcazar, is a great winner. It has broken box-office records and moved great audiences to laughter and to tears. It has more than made good the managerial promises. It is sweet, wholesome, full of human interest and bubbling over with quaint and infectious humor. "The Dairy Farm" supplies in abundance the milk of human kindness and the cream of good humor. It is a play to amuse and divert and send one home refreshed and cheerful, not bored and dispirited. As Peter Robertson has expressed it, "the public has too few such attractive stage stories to entertain." Belasco and Mayer have exercised fine taste and gone to great lengths in giving the first Western production of this little-known established English success, for they intend to send the entire company and their equipment upon a prolonged tour through all territory west of Denver, where the play will have the charm of absolute novelty. The venture is sure to be vastly profitable and will establish a fine trade mark for this firm upon the road. The demand for seats for all the regular Alcazar performances of "The Dairy Farm" is so great that an extra matinee will be given next Sunday, although this is exceptional at this season of the year. Florence Roberts will follow "The Dairy Farm," commencing her annual engagement August 31, in the first San Francisco production of Mrs. Burton Harrison's famous play, "The Unchaste Mrs. Hatch."

GRAND OPERA SEASON TO OPEN AT TIVOLI.

"The Highwayman" will begin its sixth and last week at the Tivoli Opera House on Monday evening. Camille D'Arville's return to the comic opera stage has proved a tremendous success and music lovers in this city are destined to the Tivoli management for again bringing her before the public. She has lost none of the charm which made her the queen of the operatic stage and as a matricole she is not to be surpassed. Miss D'Arville is fortunate in having excellent support throughout. Edwin Stevens has the great part of Foxy Quiller, the Bow street detective who never detects anything, but invents it with an atmosphere peculiarly his own. Arthur Cunningham does splendid work. He is in excellent voice, and the part of Dick Fitzgerald exactly suits him. It is doubtful if he has ever been heard to better advantage. A rich comedy part is left in the hands of Edward Webb who does full justice to it. Annie Myers, Ferra Hartman and in fact all the old Tivoli favorites are well cast. The opera is beautifully staged and costumed, and should not be missed by a lover of good music.

Meanwhile the Tivoli people are rehearsing for the opening of the grand opera season which takes place on August 31. The Italian artists will arrive in San Francisco. In a few days and there is every indication that the season will be the most successful in the history of the house. The sale of seats will open on Monday, August 24.

NEW TURN-TABLE AND ROUND HOUSE MAKING GOOD HEADWAY.

Work on the new turn-table and round house is progressing rapidly. A large derrick and pile-driver is on the scene of operation and already a greater part of the foundation for the turn-table has been put in. The surveying work has been completed and orders are to rush it through "full head."

TWO MACHINISTS RECEIVE INJURIES WHILE WORKING

Johnny Robinson, while working at his machine Wednesday, had the misfortune to catch his hammer on an overhanging wire. The hammer sprung back and gave Johnny a bad bump on the head. It was quite painful, so Robinson laid off the rest of the day.

Hank Griffin, while working on the bolt cutting machine, cut his forehead in a peculiar manner. He was tying a large nut when the wrench slipped with the above result. He continued work.

NEWSY NOTES PICKED UP IN VARIOUS QUARTERS.

Andy Waters, engineer of the ram is back to work after several days' lay off. Waters will have charge of the air hammer which will be one of the exhibits in the Labor Day parade.

Joe Prial, clerk in the master mechanic's office, is laying off on account of private business affairs.

Charles Ball, locomotive engineer on the Napa branch, was down to the shops yesterday on a little business matter.

Alex Gruen laid off yesterday after noon to show a party of his Cincinnati friends here with the G. A. R. veterans about the suburbs of this city. Last evening he showed them the "sights" in San Francisco.

C. M. Baxter, superintendent of the copper claim mining property in Tehama county, paid a visit to A. F. Hennig, foreman of the rolling stock equipment yesterday. The visit was a purely business one concerning some mining matters.

Out at the Printech gas house the gas compressors are doing hard labor these days, because of the G. A. R. rush to the coast. An immense quantity of gas has been needed to supply the large number of extra cars needed to convey the veterans from the East.

George Adams is overhauling the big shaper's table and is being assisted in the work by Wile Morton.

The half a dozen or August 21 is on hand, and contains a small sled-like trailer. One of the most interesting illustrated articles is entitled: "Some Futuristic Specialists." In connection with the Chicago sand rammer, which was recently invented, the Ago has the following to say:

"The Chicago sand rammer is a device which has just been placed on the market, and results thus far are reported to have been very satisfactory. The machine is showing up to good advantage wherever used. In connection with its light weight, one advantageous feature is that the machine can be operated by man standing, thereby eliminating the necessity of bending over, a fatiguing task necessary to the operation of similar types of machines. This feature should appeal strongly to users of sand rammers."

P. S. Brown laid off yesterday on account of the G. A. R. convention.

The Southern Pacific tug "Ival" will be the first to go on the ways at the shipyard after the completion of the car float No. 2. She will be given a new propeller.

Several large jobs are now being put through in the blacksmith shop. Four sets of large frames are being welded together.

Engine 1404 will have a new boiler put in immediately. It arrived yesterday. The old one is on the scrap pile at Sacramento.

Engine 1404 is in for a new fire box and minor repairs.

Jack Clifford, who formerly worked in the boiler shop, entertained several of his old friends Thursday evening.

THE FIRST SAMPLE.

WASHINGTON, August 22.—Secretary Wilson exhibited in his desk in the Agricultural Department today the first hand of silk reeled from the silk reeling machines, though only one of them has been put in operation, the intention being to send one of the two remaining machines to Tuskegee, and the other to some other place where sufficient interest may be shown to learn how to operate it. Coconuts have been purchased from all over the country and two expert female French operatives have been brought to Washington to teach the operation of the machine. It is Secretary Wilson's desire to have the people of the South, especially colored persons, learn the business because of the comparatively cheapness of labor.

Secretary Wilson says that the department is prepared to do everything possible to encourage the industry and that silk worm eggs, as well as young mulberry trees will be supplied to persons desiring to engage in the business.

TO GO TO SOUTH AFRICA.

There is a rumor abroad that Jack Hoffman is to join the contingent of young Americans who are seeking their fortunes in South Africa. Mr. Hoffman spent a year in South America and gained considerable practical mining experience which will be of value to him in his new enterprise.

BAD CONDUCT OF SURPRISE PARTY YOUNG MEN.

FIVE PLEASANTON YOUTHS PLEAD GUILTY—SPLENDID RACE TRACK.

PLEASANTON, August 21.—Pleasanton has some very disorderly young men, and on last Sunday they became intent on disturbing the peace and quietness of the little town. On Wednesday they were arrested for this offense. Wash Snellman had two charges of disturbing the peace lodged against him; Fred Olivera, two charges of disturbing the peace; Frank Kilch, one charge of disturbing the peace; Anton Bernal, one charge of disturbing the peace.

They came before Judge Quinn on Thursday evening, and all plead guilty except Frank Olivera. The case against the latter was dismissed, as he was found to have been attempting to separate the others. They will be sentenced Saturday.

CHARGES BURGLARY.

PLANS MADE FOR CONFERENCE.

In many directions there seems to be a new interest in the missionary endeavor of the churches. All along this line is which is to be held in the Union Street Presbyterian Church, Oakland, for two days beginning on Monday, August 21. This conference has been arranged to include every pastor in the presbytery who is able to attend. It will discuss several phases of Home and Foreign Mission, and will seek to arouse enthusiasm for presbyterian self-support at home and for the securing of ten new foreign missionaries as a part of the 211 needed for the Presbytery Board for the current year. Home Missions will be given very special emphasis. It is expected that nearly every church will have delegates present, and all delegates are to receive free entertainment. The Alameda County Christian Endeavor Union will join in the inter-denominational rally which is to be held on Tuesday night, August 22. The principal feature of the evening will be a series of short addresses by student volunteers on the subject, "Why I Volunteered to Go." Very careful preparations have been made for this conference, and it is expected that definite and large results will follow.

Miss Menard cured after doctors failed to help her.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me after doctors had failed, and I want other girls to know about it. During menstruation I suffered most intense pain low in the abdomen and in my limbs. At other times I had a heavy, depressed feeling which made my work seem twice as hard, and I grew pale and thin. The medicine the doctor gave me did not do me one bit of good, and I was thoroughly disengaged. The doctor wanted me to stop work, but, of course, I could not do that. I finally began to take Lydia E. # WESTERN GIRL SURPASSES EASTERN SISTER.

Veteran Compares the Girls of East and West—Unprincipled People Injure Oaklands Reputation.

"You have a fine lot of women out here in California. I never saw so many plump, rosy, healthy young girls in my life as I have seen since I came out here. Our girls don't look as if they had anything to do but eat and dress in pretty clothes. And they look bluer than our girls back home do."

The speaker was one of the Grand Army veterans with white mustache and grizzled features forbade the idea of "tatty."

"Yes," he continued with a meditative smile, "I think your women are about the neatest thing you've got out here. Your climate and your fruit are fine, but the girls are away ahead of anything I've seen yet. If I were forty years younger I would like to have a bunch of them back in the hard cider and sled riding belt. I don't think I'd freeze to any extent. Do you?"

And the old gentleman's eyes twinkled at his own conceit, which perhaps had more of pleasant memory than anticipation in it. Nevertheless, the veteran was right. California women are big. They are also fair and wholesome, and they round out deal better than the Eastern sisters. Anybody could see that who compared the native finale article with the feminine brigade that arraigned with the Grand Army. It was notable that the California girls dressed themselves more tastefully, wore easier garments as a rule, and filled their clothes better. The lines in their faces were smoother, as if life and care had fewer worries for them than for women back East. By comparison our girls don't appear to have much to complain of.

The musically inclined will rejoice that an effort is about to be made toward securing a proper auditorium for Oakland. For many years past this necessity has been pressing, and now that opportunity for its fulfillment offers, every one should put a shoulder to the wheel and help. There are at present two large choral societies here, and when it was proposed to increase the active membership list of one, the idea had to be abandoned for lack of space accommodation.

The coming choral concert of 250 voices, under leadership of the ablest directors Oakland affords, will be a foretaste of many to follow when a proper auditorium is secured.

The idea of having one in connection with the new Y. M. C. A. building is particularly happy thought, and all possible assistance should be rendered toward defraying the expense incident to its erection.

The current issue of "Sunset" publishes a portrait of Mr. W. C. Morrow, the author, and among other things, says: "Few Pacific coast writers are more deserving of the fame which has come to them than W. C. Morrow, the author. • • • No one since Bret Harte has done more to develop a characteristic Californian literature; no one has done more to insist upon purity of style and gracefulness of diction than Mr. Morrow."

Mr. Morrow has many warm personal friends in Oakland, where he is well known, both through his writings and lectures, as well as his classes in the Art of Prose Expression. He has altered his plans for the coming season, and will take a limited number of pupils only, in a majority of those lusty foreigners we order to satisfy other pressing demands upon his time.

Indications point to the fact that men are getting tired of somber dress, and incline more to the trappings of gayety. This summer's hats were so rash as to cause comment, and it cannot be denied that they were unusual, with their carved bands and deeply dentled crowns. Now comes the announcement that kilimons are to be worn instead of office coats and dressing-gowns. Not only that, but these same kilimons fairly riot in the gayest and brightest of colors. No longer will the preening be done exclusively by womenkind. They will have rivals in the art of make-up in those of the opposite sex. Once men enter the field of personal adornment, where will they end? Will they go back to the velvet breeches and jeweled garters of yore, with the powdered periwig?

There is certainly room for improvement in the modern garb, which is severe to ugliness. However, since kilimons are to be the entering wedge, it will surely not be long before other innovations follow.

In about two weeks social activities of all sorts will be in full swing.

The Star King Fraternity, which, by the way, Mayor Olney is a long time member, proposes to have its yearly banquet early in the season, and by way of contrast, the Unitarian Sunday School postponed its picnic until this fall. On Saturday next, as has already been announced, members of this school are going on an excursion to Sunset Park, in the Santa Cruz mountains.

The Lend a Hand Club, which is composed of strenuous workers, held weekly sessions all summer, and is busily engaged upon work for a coming fair.

An afternoon card party is to be given soon at the home of the Misses Gorrell for the benefit of this club, which performs many kind acts. Under its notice has come a very sad case indeed—that of a young German woman without money, totally blind, and suffering from spinal complaint. For awhile she was an inmate of the Home for the Blind, out on Thirty-sixth street, but there is no provision for keeping sick people there. Through the instrumentality of some members of the Help A Hand Club she was given room and treatment at Fabiola Hospital, in hopes that she might be cured. Instead, she has been growing worse. She has been at Fabiola many many weeks beyond the stipulated time, and it remains to find a home for her, where her sufferings may at least be alleviated. This is but one instance of the many which come under notice of the Lend A Hand.

BETTY MARTIN.

Paris Gowns for August Days

In August there is, or should be by rights, a decided change in the weather. With the longer nights there are certainly much cooler days and consequently there is more opportunity to wear rather heavier gowns in the afternoon than was possible in July, and now the linen and silk gowns come into prominence, while the lace trimmed costumes and those made with lace coats are seen to the greatest advantage. Even when gowns made with coats are not worn with the coats it is well to have the wraps at hand so they can be donned if there is any change in the weather, with a great question whether they really look smart with or without the coats. Those lined with the lace gowns are fascinating, especially in white ones. Those made with the winter coats and skirts all to match are smart. The waist must be trimmed with embroidery or lace or embroidered—the latter the smartest of all—the embroidery in heavy white thread and with raised design, or with lace, with the lace in applique rather than in tulle. Skirts and coats are sturdiest when unlined, made short to clear the ground and with some extra fullness at the seam, just above the foot, so there is a good turn; the coat can be either a collar or with a lace or embossed lace, or that is round at the back and in front has long, square tabs. The coat can either be fastened with fancy buttons of white pearl with a thread of gold in the center or with small white buttons. These coats are tight fitting both in front and back, but so cleverly cut that there is a straight line in front, instead of the ugly curve in that marks the garment as old style.

There are, in sharp contrast to these coats, quite a number made to perfectly loose effect—an exaggerated, box coat. Others have a straight back, only shaped in at the side seams, and the front quite straight with a turned over collar faced with lace or embroidery, or without any collar at all. Just the effect of a collar being given by the action of the material. White continues to be the favorite color, and white taffeta silk and pongee as well as linen and plique are immensely fashionable. They are very neat and trim, these costumes, and all on the expensive order, but most suitable for this time of year as are also the ones made in the same design but of light weight silk or cloth.

The one color India silks are this year exclusively fashionable, for they have not been made up excepting by rather conservative dressmakers. In black they are especially good with a tiny polka dot the same color, trimmed with bands of narrow lace velvet ribbon, lace, plique and deep cuffs of black lace over white. The simple and made in skirt and waist to match, not with the coat. The plain black coat is considered to be smartest with them.

This season having been unusually cool there has been a fine opportunity for dressmakers to turn out a style of summer gown that they particularly like to make. They are of most elaborate muslins and lace, but made up over silk linings, fitted and boned, and precisely on the lines of winter clothes, excepting that the materials differ. The unlined lace and muslin gowns are top-fashions for the last three or four seasons past, especially to workmanship, most utility as to fit and exceedingly smart, but they have been so hard for dressmakers to turn out satisfactorily according to their ideas, and certainly in thin materials it is difficult to get as good a fit. Of course, there have been the silk underbodices, made in princess-style over which may be worn any sort of thin gown, but still these are not the same as the fitted silk lined summer frocks, and now the most expensive of this kind are worn in many cases, green, yellow batiste, and made up over a pale yellow silk lining. The skirt is embroidered with yellow dress, and has an applique of yellow lace on white. There is a long coat or double skirt effect, the bottom of which is outlined in large creamy right for this time of year, and most charming are they in effect. One style is in a pale blue velveteen, with two bands of guipure lace. A short bolero jacket effect, also with the lace on the bodice, the lower part of the jacket with the plisse pressed out and hanging in blouse fashion over a deep pointed bodice of blue Liberty satin, fastened with three rhinestone buttons. There is a collar made of the band of embroidery, tied with the narrow pale blue Liberty satin and finished with blue tassels. The heavier weaves of veiling that are almost like canvas are extremely smart at present and are made up in light tan, gray or white. They are extremely simple in design, with a plain skirt and waist and only a deep collar of lace, the same color from which hang little tassels, also of the same color, while a belt of lace has tabs in the back that are also finished with tabs. In this tan this is a charming gown, very useful, and can be made on either white silk or one of the new linings that are so effective and so fashionable at present. The plisse prairie gowns are not as smart as they were. The heavier pongee is more used now in the coat and skirt costumes, which are extremely smart and very useful. Liberty pongee is more fashionable for the moment in the plisse gowns or in the shirred ones. The trouble is that it is rather too fancy a material for day wear. It seems more suitable for evening gowns, but nevertheless the material is excellent as suitable for day wear as well, and is easily made up exactly as though intended for a ball gown, excepting that the waist is cut high instead of low. White, pale pink, pale blue and very pale gray are the best colors in this material, and the trimmings of lace or embroidery added mouseline de sole are the ones considered the most suitable.

As is usual at this time of the year a number of most eccentric fashions make their appearance. These are the ones which are sent out almost as fad for what will do for the season. The latest is the wide shoulder sloping shoulders or the very wide shoulder, attempted in the heavier materials. A gown of light biscuit colored cloth has a skirt in side plisse, with a wide band of guipure lace over the same color. There is a coat which has an attached plisse in deep plisse, the upper part turned to look as though it were partly bolero, but the odd part of the costume consists in the side plisse, which start from the top of the collar and go without any break to below the elbow, in a sort of winglike appearance, securing by this means a most extraordinarily long sloping shoulder. This style will be seen

Fashions for the Little Ones.

White is, of course, the most attractive and most becoming color for children's wear and the most fashionable at the present moment. The fancy for dressing children entirely in white still maintains its popularity. The short white socks and the white shoes look deliciously cool, while the little frocks and caps are made of the light lace embroidered by hand on the outside of the finest organdy or lawn, made with short sleeves, are fashionable both for very young and rather older children. The white plique and white duck frocks are all made with the long lines—that is, with the plisse and the long waisted effect, and the belt of leather or plique belted down in front, a ruffle, quite scant and cut on the bias, around the shoulders and the short sleeves finished with a ruffle. Of course with this style of garment for it is all in one, there can be a yoke of lace and embroidery or muslin, and when it is not possible for a child to wear low neck and short sleeves, as is often the case, there can be sleeves of the material to match the frock, and also a yoke or chemise of the material as well.

The extravagance of the age is so omnipresent that it is nothing unusual to see so much expense put upon the clothes for small children, for the time being. It has been the desire of the fond mother's heart to deck her baby in rich lace and hand sewn frocks, but the quality of the lace to-day is now used is extremely fine and equally expensive, while the handwork costs very much more than it did in olden times. The outfit, which consists of a guipure dress, with ruffles, trimmed with lace entre deux and lace edged, and the coat and bonnet to match, are, without doubt, becoming and exquisitely dainty. The coat is made precisely on the plan of a woman's long lining coat, is loose fitting, and has a deep plisse, which is trimmed with three or four rows of real lace entre deux and a lace edged ruffle. The full sleeves are gathered in at the wrist with a band of lace entre deux and ruffle again. The bonnet is lined with down. The first suit that a boy wears is made on the Russian plan, with the long blouse and the short sailor knickerbockers. This style is made in all white materials, and when worn with short stockings and white or tan shoes is delightfully cool and becoming. For everyday wear the colored linens and ducks or even the striped gauze are excellent and exceedingly inexpensive, and these materials can be used for either style of suit.

Necessity for Regrets.

Once upon a time, on a winter morning, a tramp in the neighborhood of the "Four Hundred" was going from house to house seeking a breakfast. At the first house he was invited to clean the snow from the front walk as a condition precedent to the festal meal. He turned somersaults from the roof of the next house, where he had to face a similar invitation. So it went from house to house until the tramp selected a breakfasting place where the snow had been removed.

Moral.—Persons who move in the circle of the "Four Hundred" have to decline many invitations.

a pin, cover the base with sheets of newspaper and put a flat weight on it, covering it to remain twenty-four hours. Fine white lace, ribbons and silk may be treated and cleaned with powdered magnesia, or, if not too badly soiled, with borax, taking care it is not browned in the heating. Sprinkle the magnesia or borax upon a thick sheet of newspaper or wrapping paper, lay the silk on it, cover it with a sheet of more magnesia or borax. Cover with a sheet of paper, place a book on some light weight on top, and let it remain several days. Search up silk can be cleaned in the same way. Take up, shake well, and brush with a soft brush. For ones that require stiffening, dip in a pint of water in which gum arabinum the size of a pea is dissolved, roll about a horticultural pillar or pat with soft soap and dry.

If straw is to be renewed, unpick, roll up in a damp towel until soft, then sew and shape.

If you want to cut net or chiffon in strips or get straight lines for trimming take a large sheet of smooth manila or white paper, and with a ruler draw parallel lines across the sheet as far apart as you want the strips of lace or muslin. Lay the fabric over the paper, boasting or pinning evenly, and tie a string around the colored section to mark the lines for snipping.

Steel ornaments may be made as good as new by a good scrubbing in hot soapsuds, using a nail brush to reach the interstices. Then polish with enamel or dry in sawdust.

For "silvering up" ostrich plumes shake vigorously through the escaping steam of a tea kettle, taking care that they do not catch fire. This restores the brilliancy of the feathers. If the feathers are dull and pasty, Next take a silver nail knife and be careful with the glass nearest the quill tail feathers, being three-quarters of an inch apart, either between thumb and forefinger and draw the nail gently over the blade of the knife until you get near the tip. Then give a quick jerk. Follow this process up each side of the tip. Then take a very coarse comb and comb over carefully, then dip the feathers in oil. Place the crown of your comb upside down. Then with a clean whisk broom sweep out the inside of the comb, bringing it into shape. This must be done quickly, as it gets into shape easily, and too much steaming overdoes the matter and makes it last estate worse than the first. Next turn the crown of the hat sideways on the covered iron, and revolving it with one hand, whisk the inside of the side crown with the other. Then take the brim and shape that, turning it up at one side, bending in whatever shape is desired, manipulating deftly with the whisk on one side of the iron and damp cloth on the other. If you want to clean a white hat, do it with hot water, soap and a cloth. For black hats, dip in cold water, then wash with a cloth, then brush with a cloth, then rinse with a cloth. For straw hats, dip in cold water, then wash with a cloth, then brush with a cloth, then rinse with a cloth. If the straw has picked himself to the preening and it never comes out.

TO GIVE A SATIN FINISH TO VELVET.

If you have old silk velvet that you wish to turn into the fine boned panne or satin texture use a good steel faced iron perfectly clean and smooth on both sides and iron. Heat the iron but moderately. Spread the velvet face upward on a clean, smooth board and smooth it with the iron, taking hold and smooth it with the iron, look at them carefully and see that the dues are long, silky and perfect. If there are rough, serrated looking places it is when the starch has picked himself to the preening and it never comes out.

MAKING OLD VELVET LOOK FRESH.

"To restore velvet, steam over a hot iron covered with a damp cloth, but do not brush unless crushed badly. If that is the case, brush against the nap, using a soft velvet brush. If very badly soiled, velvet will wash using any good soap and water; then

The best velvet is better than silk velveteen as durability and keeping in order are concerned, for mixing or trimming nuts. Iron will stay in good quality of velvet as a little stain will make it as good as new, while a few drops of water on silk velvet make little indications hard to remove. Hats should be brushed every time they have been worn before putting away, to keep the dust from clinging to them. Artificial flowers, drooping and crushed, may be brightened and freshened by shaking for ten minutes in the steam from a boiling tea kettle as it passes through the spout. Ostrich feathers respond to the same treatment. Artificial feathers may be laid on a flat iron, covered with the damp cloth, and whisked. It is a very delicate operation, requiring a good deal of skill. A good quality of ribbon makes the most durable and consequently cheapest of all hat trimmings, or the flying dust of city streets or country driving better than flower feathers or lace. Good qualities of ribbon or silk will always wash, though this is not necessary unless they are badly soiled. If refreshed and stiffened, they will be durable since a smooth polished board makes a perfect surface for water. Leave on the silk until dry. Net lace may be renovated by winding smoothly around a bottle or tin baking can from which the paper label has been removed, then stretching over the tea kettle. To renovate old black thread or French lace, dip it into an infusion of weak green tea, then spread out upon several thicknesses of newspapers laid upon the ironing board or other flat surface.

After going over the entire surface of the dry velvet, ironing always in the same direction, steam thoroughly, then go over it the second time. You cannot press too much, provided you always keep the iron hot, ironing heated and smooth with the iron, taking hold and smooth it with the iron, the right way of the nap, as it must be laid in the way of the due's face. Heat the iron and the due's face. After the due's face is laid, the iron moves over the sole of your shoe or over the edge of a work table; then return to the bar after the shaping.

Suggestions for Home Millinery.

It was the Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hills who announced from the Plymouth Church pulpit—"We are not yet very far removed from the savage, because woman thinks she can make herself more attractive by wringing the feathers of two birds and setting them feathers in her hat, robbing them forward in the spring, then breaking them."

Happy, notwithstanding, is the woman who has the know of "secret" how to grow feathers, for she has a decided advantage over the less capable sister who can never achieve a new head covering without a great outlay of money, or constant recourse to Mine, Millinery.

What He Wanted.

Slasher has a perfect mania for conversation. He'll go into a clothing store for a suit and discuss baseball or the chances of political parties with the salesman; he'll go into a book store for a novel and startle the proprietor with a disquisition on the architecture of the building across the way; he can go, and goes, from boots to bottles, from hawks to handbags, from rats to numismatics with the most amazing and hard to follow talk.

He visited a corner drug store yesterday, and this is what happened:

"Did any box women?"

"Oh, yes; this is a well-equipped—"

"You keep oopodes, do?"

"Certainly; we—"

"You've got eanels?"

"You probably have hydrochloric acid stored away somewhere here?"

"Certainly; don't you understand?"

"You are quite sure, are you not, that your shives carry the essence of peppermint?"

"Say, my time is valuable, and—"

"And the texture of myrrh, and carbolic acid, and substances of blaunch, and glycerine, and camphor, and floral, and gauze, and perfume, and perfume—"

"Look here, can't you understand?"

"Oh, yes, you keep all these things; we have to trust one fellow mortals, and I have all sorts of faith in you, but the great question is, have you any stamps and postal cards in stock? Could you accommodate me with a two-cent and a card, please?"
